MRS. P. G. LOMBARD
DIES AS CARS CRASH

Auto Bursts Into Flames
in Heart of City After Collision Which Injures
Nine.

Following the death of Mrs. P. G. Lombard, well known clubwoman of East Lake, Wednesday morning, probable fatal injury of 11-year-old Louise Lunsford, of 136 West Peachtree street and injuries to 19 others in a series of accidents later in the day, Chief of Police James L. Beavers issued strict orders to all members of the early morning watch Thursday, and will repeat them to all others of the day, to vigorously enforce all traffic ordinances.

An active campaign was launched following Beavers' orders, to wage relentless war on reckless and fast automobile drivers on the city streets.

The renewed war on speeders and traffic ordinance violators will be in charge of Lieutenants W. M. (Buck) Weaver and Luther J. Carroll, and will not be stopped until the city is cleared of all such law violators.

Fatal Crash.
In the crash that resulted in the death of Mrs. Lombard, three other women were injured. They are Mrs. Fred S. Gould, of East Lake, who was driving the machine in which Mrs. Lombard was riding; Mrs. E. E. Chandler, 187 Clifton street, and Mrs. C. C. Tomlin, of 43 Clifton street, who were riding in the light coupe that collided with the touring car of Mrs. Gould.

The 11-year-old schoolgirl, Louise Lunsford, was struck down just after she had left the Calhoun school, where she is a pupil. The name of the driver of the machine that injured her has not been learned by the police.

She was rushed to Grady hospital by Dr. Bluestein, of 67 Crumley street, who was passing. Surgeons said they fear her skull was crushed and that she was injured internally.

Mrs. Lombard's neck was broken, her skull crushed and she was injured internally when she was thrown from Mrs. Gould's automobile, which was going south on West Boulevard drive and hit at Clifton street by the coupe.

Although the ambulance of Awtry and Lowndes made a record run to the scene of the accident, Mrs. Lombard was dead before it arrived.

Besides her husband, who is credit manager of the International Harvester company, she is survived by two daughters—Dorothy, age 15, and Julia, 12.

Nine Hurt in Crash.

Nine persons were hurt, one probably seriously injured, and one automobile was turned over and completely demolished by fire about 9 o'clock Wednesday night at North Pryor street and Edgewood avenue, when two cars collided, according to police reports.

Those injured were: Mrs. S. M. Chandler, of 558 Washington street, probably internal injuries and possible brain concussion; S. M. Chandler, an infant child, Hammond Bennett, 548 Washington street; Miss Lois Lowenthal, 924 Capitol avenue; Raymond Herbig, 330 St. Charles avenue; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mason, of 478 Bankhead avenue, and their 4-year-old daughter, Emma.

According to information given by Patrolman R. E. Hutcheson, Herbig, driver of the sedan containing Mr. Bennett, Miss Lowenthal, Mr. and Mrs. Chandler, and their child, was going west on Edgewood avenue and collided with a car driven by Mason, which was going north on North Pryor street.

Herbig told the officer that Mason was at fault, according to police reports.

SENATE ABANDONS
FARM BILL TO PASS
ARMY AIR MEASURE

Senator Blease Attacks
Senate for Failure To Act on McNary Corn Belt Bill.

Washington, June 2.—(P)—The senate was forced to devote two hours today to farm relief legislation, but republican leaders finally had their way and sidetracked that bill long enough to pass the army aircraft five-year-building program.

Taking advantage of the parliamentary situation, Senator Blease, democrat, South Carolina, refused early in the afternoon to agree to unanimous consent for the temporary laying aside of the farm bill for the aircraft measure as had been done yesterday after the former had been made the unfinished business of the senate.

This made it necessary for Senator McNary, republican, Oregon, in charge of the cooperative marketing corn belt bill, to begin his opening statement on that measure. After he had proceeded for two hours amid numerous interruptions, Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, called attention to the fatigue of the Oregon senator, and the senate agreed to proceed with the aircraft measure.

Blease Withdraws Objection.
In asking that the original program of the majority leaders be carried out, Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut, explained that Senator Blease, who was not then present, had agreed not to press his objection against sidetracking farm relief.

Senator Blease's protest against putting aside the farm measure was voiced after the democratic leader, Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, and Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, had expressed doubt as to whether there was a sincere purpose to put through a real farm measure at this session.

To a plea of Senator Bingham that the air bill was a measure of national defense, the fiery South Carolinian replied that when the United States adhered to the world court there was a promise of no more wars and that consequently additional airplanes were not needed.

The bill would authorize an addition of 403 officers in the newly established "air corps," an increase in enlisted personnel from 8,400 to approximately 15,000 whenever congress provides the necessary funds, and construction of 1,800 planes in five-year period and as many airplanes, free and captive balloons, as the secretary may determine to be necessary for training purposes. The cost is estimated at $40,000,000 annually.

Assistant War Secretary.
The bill also would create the office of second assistant secretary of war, who would be charged with the supervision of the air corps and the coordination of its activities with other governmental agencies.

The senate refused to limit to the air corps the major general to be chief of the air corps, and of three brigadiers general to be assistant chiefs. Senators Robinson, democrat, Tennessee, insisted on this restriction, but the senate voted, 33 to 23, to limit the appointment to officers of not less than 15 years' service in the air corps, and to those who have demonstrated by actual and extended service in the air corps that they are qualified.

Senator Tyson made an effort to retain the extra pay provisions for enlisted mechanics, but the senate voted against it.

Cannot Predict Weather Far In Advance; Rain Likely Today.

After making his official daily prognostication—to the effect that Atlanta's weather menu for Thursday would include temperatures about the same as Wednesday, but with showers probable in the afternoon—C. F. von Herrmann, in charge of the United States weather bureau, on Wednesday afternoon turned his attention to a sheaf of records and statistics on his desk. He handed out facts and figures compiled from former years in vast quantity, but with punctilious accuracy, at the same time warning that the meteorological antics of the past provide no guide for prophecies as to the future.

It is impossible to predict weather in advance for any great length of time with any degree of certainty, according to Mr. von Herrmann, who declares that a cool spring, such as we have had this year, does not mean that the summer months will be exceptionally warm, or vice versa.

Consulting his records as far back as 1879, there was no instance upon which such a theory of "cool after warm" or "warm after cool" could be based. In fact, Atlanta's weather has used weather Mr. von Herrmann says, and what happened last year—or last month—or yesterday—was nothing to do with the weather of the future.

The following statistics are offered by Mr. von Herrmann, and will show that there has been no great difference in spring weather for the past three years, with the exception of the spring of 1925.

Last Year Records.
March and April temperatures of 1925 exceeded by several degrees the temperatures of March and April of this year, while May of 1925 recorded a higher temperature by one degree than May of this year. March, April and May of 1924, with the exception of the spring of 1925.

CHURCH SPLIT

Fundamentalist Leader of Presbyterians Says
Modernists Are Causing
"Terrible Climax."

CASE OF MACHEN
CAUSE OF DEBATE

Statement Issued After Assembly Postponed Approval of Princeton Theological Head.

Baltimore, June 2.—(P)—An open break between the fundamentalists and liberals occurred at the close of the 188th general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America today. Dr. Clarence Macartney, fundamentalist leader, issued a statement charging that a coalition of modernists and others had served to bring the assembly to "A terrible climax."

The debate on the floor waxed warmer than any other of the assemblies of both groups.

"The action will open the eyes of Presbyterians," Dr. Macartney continued, "to the fact that our church is rapidly drifting from its historic and fearless witness to the great truths of reformed faith. It is impossible to put another construction upon what has transpired in the 188th general assembly."

Will Awaken Numbers.
"The extraordinary events of this general assembly will awaken the great number of our church who think that all is well with the Presbyterian church and will unite in solid ranks all those who are determined to stand for our precious and blood bought inheritance."

Dr. Keigwin, chairman of the assembly's committee on overtures, which recommended the action taken by the assembly, said Dr. Macartney must have spoken in excitement and "entirely misinterpreted the facts."

"Far from being the result of any coalition," he said, "the actions of this assembly were, clearly, due to a steadily growing spirit in the church which demands unity and a reasonable liberty within the limits of our constitution. The assembly is made up of an overwhelming majority of men of conservative views who stand unhesitatingly for the historic doctrines of Presbyterianism."

Resolution Falls.
An attempt to introduce the resolution was defeated. Moderator Thompson pointing out that the constitution forbids introduction of new business so late.

The statement had been circulated hardly more than an hour before Dr. Keigwin issued a flat denial of Dr. Macartney's statements.

Saying that "Our church is rapidly drifting away from its historic and fearless witness to the great truths of the reformed faith," Dr. Macartney added he hoped it would serve to awaken Presbyterians to this fact.

"The complete and sweeping victory won in this general assembly by the coalition of modernists, indifferentists and pacifists, and which reached a terrible climax in the repudiation of Dr. J. Gresham Machen until after a committee had investigated charges of 'Temperamental idiosyncrasy' against him, and the condition of affairs at the assembly."

"Bobby" Jones and Cyril

Sports Editor, The Constitution

St. Andrews, Scotland, June 2.—With British and American flags, sewed back to back, waving over the historic old clubhouse of St. Andrews, and an enormous and impartial gallery following the play, members of the Walker cup team won three of the four matches in the first day's play for the trophy.

Only Francis Quimet and Jess Guilford, of the American octet, lost their foursome, this pair being defeated by Sir Ernest Holderness and Roger Wethered, both former amateur champions, 4 and 3.

Bob Gardner, captain of the American team, and his youthful partner, Roland MacKenzie, of Washington, D. C., had the hardest kind of a time defeating A. E. Storey and W. G. Brownlow, 1 up. It was a sensational 20-foot putt for a half on the last green, tapped coolly into the cup by young MacKenzie, which decided the match.

Bobby Jones and Watts Gunn, the Atlantics, had an easy task winning from Cyril Tolley and Arthur Jamieson, 4 and 3, while Jesse Sweetser and George Von Elm fairly overwhelmed Robert Harris and Major Heaslet, 8 and 7.

By fine teamwork Jones and Gunn ended the morning round 6 up on the British pair, losing only the 11th hole when Jones missed a three-foot putt on which he was partially assisted. But the Atlanta veteran made by this one mistake by consistently fine wood and iron shots throughout the match. His generalship was also a great factor in the triumph of the Americans.

Watts Gunn played a fine game most of the time, holding a 120-foot putt on the huge 18th green for a birdie three and then shot a birdie three on the long 14th by holing a 12-footer.

Going out Jones and Gunn played with almost mechanical perfection, ending the nine with a card of one under even fours. The best nine holes of the play.

Though Jamieson and Gunn gave his veteran opponent too much to do, Tolley made several costly shots by his wildness. At the 10th Tolley hooked his tee shot into a patch of gorse and after the gallery had spent the allotted time searching without finding the ball the hole was conceded to the Americans.

On the difficult 17th, both pairs had considerable trouble keeping approach shots on the narrow green and

Chief of Police James L. Beavers, who recently resumed his post in the department on the strength of a court verdict after 20 months suspension, Wednesday night was voted a 30-day leave of absence by the police committee of council in order that he might "complete his convalescence."

Due to the absence from the city of Councilman Ellis Barrett, member of the committee, that body took no action on the election of an assistant chief. It was understood, however, that this official will be elected at a special called meeting of the committee probably early next week.

Beavers took the floor and told the committee that he could promise "the best disciplined force and strictest law-enforcement of any city in the country in a short time, provided he was given cooperation of the committee."

Goldstrom Maintains Lead
Of Two Days on Flight

BY JOHN GOLDSTROM
(Special Correspondent of The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Krasnoyarsk, Siberia, June 1.—The past few days of my attempt to break the record for circling the globe have been interesting but uneventful. The Trans-Siberian train on which I am traveling across Asia continues on schedule and we should reach Chita Thursday. There I have arranged for a special locomotive to Harbin, 20 hours away. At Harbin, Japanese planes will meet me for the flight to Yokohama.

I should arrive there easily by the sixth and my steamer does not leave until the seventh. In the meanwhile I am maintaining my advantage of two days over previous racers including John Henry Mears, the record holder.

The great Siberian plain continues to unroll before the train but far to the south appears a hint of mountains, the Altai, with their stupendous coal fields and 55 per cent pure magnetic iron ore. The soviet government is planning a steel works here whose first unit will cost $20,000,000. This will be a future steel center of Siberia.

Trees begin to dot the prairies and to the north we can see the impenetrable jungle which was famous for its guerrilla bands of peasants whose homes were destroyed by Kolchak, when he attempted to overthrow the Bolshevik regime. Evidence of the new rule are to be found at every stopping place of this train.

Vast quantities of cheap booklets on agriculture, popular science and government are issued for purposes of education and propaganda by the government printing house and for sale at every station. In addition there are periodicals of the American type. This is the cheapest traveling in the world $40 from Moscow to Vladivostok, a trip of 11 days.

COOLIDGE TO GET
SUPPORT IN 1928
FROM TENNESSEE

Action Seen as First Reaction of Regular Republicans to Borah Presidential Boom.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER
Washington, June 2.—Already the Borah presidential boom is bearing fruit—for President Coolidge. Tennessee republicans called at the white house Wednesday and assured the president that if he desires re-nomination in 1928, he can count on the delegation from the celebrated fundamentalist state.

This kind offer, it is reported, brought only a knowing smile from the silent man of the white house who is never more silent than when another term is suggested.

The haste with which this pledge of support followed the trumpeting of the Borah candidacy illustrates the grip of the president on the regular party organization. From now on the trains running into Washington will be loaded with politicians hopeful of presidential favors, who will gladly offer their support in exchange.

The Tennessee pledge was delivered by Representative Will Taylor, republican leader of the state. A. R. Clement, state chairman, and R. R. Church, negro leader. They expect little difficulty in controlling the state's 27 delegates to the republican national convention.

Coolidge Silent.
This development, however, fails completely to clear up the big question in the minds of politicians—Coolidge's attitude toward another term. It probably will not be cleared up for many months because of very practical reasons. An announcement now that the president does not intend to run again would turn loose every presidential aspirant to raid the administration organization. They would kick and form alliances and leave the president helpless during the remainder of his term. An announcement that he does intend to run again would give his every act such high political color that he would be seriously handicapped. He would stand as a clear target for the opposition. In either case, political strategy calls for delaying an announcement as long as possible. It is probable there will be no statement which could "leak" to plague him. He has left himself complete freedom.

So long as he is a potential candidate, Coolidge will have a good many rank and file politicians behind him because they are dependent on the man in the white house for the favors and appointments that enable them to live politically. That type of politician controls the republican delegations from the southern states and from some of the other states too.

That is where Borah is weak as a candidate. He may have great popular strength. But the man whose political activity is limited to casting a vote, is of little help in fixing conventions, putting up primary candidates, and attending to the innumerable chores involved in obtaining a controlled convention delegation. Borah has almost no following among professional politicians. Coolidge, ex-officio, has a tremendous one.

Third Term Question.
The third term question will be raised against Coolidge, if he decides to run, as it was against Roosevelt. But unlike Roosevelt, Coolidge has made no statement which could "leak" to plague him. He has left himself complete freedom.

The outflow from the democratic mailing room next door has not been so great. It was estimated that about 1,500,000 pieces of mail have gone out, practically all speeches. The average force has been about 20. The tariff is the subject of a majority of the speeches.

Members must pay for service on the speeches and circular letters in primary campaigns, at rates from $1.50 to $5 a thousand. The business is so good that a concession is granted. During the regular election campaigns, the congressional campaign committees of the two parties foot the bills. The business will slump from now on, beginning again with a rush in August and September.

REFORM LEADERS ATTEND MEETING OF POLICE BODY

Headed by Mrs. J. E. Andrews, Thirty Women
Call on Committee for Action.

WOMEN OFFER AID TO CLEAN UP CITY

Chairman Hartsfield
Thanks Women for Interest and Promises
Help of Committee.

Headed by Mrs. J. E. Andrews, whose recent charges of drunkenness in city council proved a bombshell for that body, a delegation of 30 women civic reform leaders Wednesday night charged in the meeting of council's police committee that the police department is shot with bribery and corruption and that policemen are acting as informers against raids to organized liquor and vice interests.

They demanded a sweeping city clean-up of bootleggers and dives, and promised to lend their aid to the police committee and the department by taking the field themselves and helping in the mop and broom process.

While expressing a desire to co-operate with the police committee, spokesmen for the women laid down the conditions under which they would take militant measures to end the regime of protection of bootleggers and lewd women now in force within the department.

Says Police Corrupt.
"The department is tainted by corruption," Mrs. Andrews, president of the Women's Civic Council, told the committee, "and we appeal—we demand in the name of motherhood and pure womanhood that you put a stop to it. The order of the personnel of this committee is high; we have confidence that you can do this thing; we want to help you, and we do not wish to threaten uselessly. But something must be done and done now. We look to you to do it."

Mrs. Andrews charged openly that members of the police department "tip off" whisky dealers and occupants of dives to plans for police raids. She said that members of the civic council had talked with women who frequented disorderly houses and had been told of the "informers" activities of the police and of full details of the price the women pay for protection. She called no names in connection with her charges.

"I have been told that this thing may prove to be a disgrace to Atlanta," Mrs. Andrews said at the committee meeting. "But I feel that the results which will follow revelation of the terrible, appalling conditions that now exist in Atlanta will more than make up for it."

VINSON PAROLE PLEA DATE NOT DETERMINED

Date for hearing of the clemency petition of Mrs. Cora Lou Vinson before the Georgia prison commission has been left entirely to the lawyers, according to V. L. Stanley, secretary of the commission, who Wednesday declared that the board has a regular schedule for next week, and it is possible that the Vinson case will come up at this time, but a delay is more probable.

Mrs. Vinson is serving a life sentence at the state farm after being convicted of the murder of her husband, Dr. Will Vinson, Atlanta physician and druggist. She has served a little more than three years.

Solicitor General John A. Boykin has announced that he will fight the clemency plea vigorously. He has the

RELIEF IS SOUGHT FROM SHERIFF'S BOND

The National Surety company, through E. W. Moore, attorney and official of the Atlanta office of the company, Wednesday filed a petition with Governor Clifford Walker asking to be relieved as surety on the bond of Sheriff J. C. Middlebrooks, of Jones county.

It is stated in the petition that the company signed a $10,000 bond for the sheriff and that he recently was convicted of violating the prohibition law and was sentenced to serve 18 months in prison. The company waited until after the date the sheriff said he would file his resignation with the governor before it asked to be relieved of the bond.

MISS MADALINE BANTON.

R. Banton, of Anley Park, has achieved the unusual success of completing the four-year course at Girls' High school in three years and will be graduated at that institution with the senior class tonight.

To accomplish this heavy task Miss Banton has carried, since February, five senior and two junior subjects, totaling seven subjects in the last semester.

Miss Banton will take a post-graduate course at Girls' High school next year and expects to pursue her musical education later, specializing in violin and piano.

STATE COMMISSION DENIES APPLICATION

Application of Georgia railroads for permission to revise rates on live stock shipments within the state was denied by the state public service commission following a hearing of the case Wednesday. Carriers sought to have the intrastate rates apply on the same scale as interstate rates, reducing rates in some cases and increasing them in others, according to the distance stock is to be hauled.

The commission ruled that the present rates, fixed by that body in 1922, are equitable.

The commission granted the Savannah & Atlanta railroad authority to issue receivers' certificates for $500,000, proceeds to be used in retiring present outstanding certificates and in improving tracks of the railroad. The commission also granted a petition of the Southeastern Company of Atlanta to issue 4,000 shares of stock.

The commission fixed a minimum weight for a car of brick at 40,000 pounds. Hereafter the weight was 50 per cent of the capacity of the car and shippers objected to this on the ground that large cars would be sent by railroads and the shippers would be required to pay for 50 per cent of their capacity although they would ship a smaller amount of brick.

MILDRED COPELAND FUNERAL THURSDAY

Funeral services for Miss Mildred Copeland, 59 Southernland Drive, popular senior at Commercial High school, who died Tuesday night at a private hospital on the eve of her graduation, will be held today at 12 o'clock from the home, Rev. Marvin Williams will officiate and interment will be in Sandy Springs cemetery.

A native of Denver, Col., Miss Copeland moved to Atlanta 13 years ago with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Copeland. She was a popular member of the High school set. Her death came as a shock to members of her family and students of the school.

She is survived only by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Copeland, of 59 Southernland drive. J. Austin Dillon, funeral director, is in charge of the services.

May Be Another Judiciary Bodies Gallows' Death Will Get Prohi In Fulton Tower Proposals Today

Possibility that Fulton county's gallows may claim another life was seen Wednesday when it was learned that Jim Pope, negro, charged with murder, was under arrest in Columbus, Ohio, and would be returned to Fulton county to stand trial.

With the hanging recently of Mack Wooden, negro, it was believed that the last person had been hanged in Fulton county. If Pope is returned, tried, and found guilty of murder in the first degree, he will be hanged, as the indictment charging murder was returned previous to the passage of the electrocution act, according to attaches in the office of Solicitor General John A. Boykin.

Pope was arrested recently in Columbus, Ohio, on a minor offense, and upon investigation it was found that he was wanted in Atlanta for the murder, on November 19, 1918, of his wife, Minnie Pope.

Solicitor General Boykin's office Wednesday received a telegram from the chief of police at Columbus stating that Pope had confessed the crime. Extradition papers were prepared immediately and Curtis Neal, county policeman, left late Wednesday night to return the negro here.

W. and M. College Students Fired For Cheating

Williamsburg, Va., June 2.—(P)—Nine students have been expelled from William and Mary college on charges of cheating on one of the final examinations in English, it was learned at the college today. They were charged with obtaining advance copies of the examination in freshman English and distributing them to certain members of the first-year class. Not all of those expelled, however, were freshmen. Their names will not be made public, even to the student body, it was stated.

The nine men were convicted by the student honor council of the college and were directed to leave the school after this today. Some have left, it was stated, and the rest will leave this afternoon.

This is the largest number of students expelled at one time from the school, the second oldest institution of higher learning in the United States, for cheating on examination. It is also the first time in the history of the college, it was stated, that students there have been charged with obtaining advance copies of examination papers.

40,000 CHILDREN INVITED TO ELKS' LAKEWOOD PICNIC

Forty thousand invitations have been sent out to the school children of Atlanta to enjoy all the privileges of Lakewood Amusement park next Thursday, June 4, at Atlanta, Ga. 78 B. B. O. Elks, celebrates "big brother" day.

The day's entertainment is not exclusively for school children, but if any boy or girl under 15 years of age happens not to get an invitation, they need not feel that they are not wanted, but may come to the park and receive the same treatment as others, according to J. Turner Fitten, exalted ruler, who is in charge of the affair.

The invitations were distributed to the school children through the cooperation of Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools. All amusement concessions will be free to the children from 10 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Souvenirs will be distributed and impressive flag day exercises of the Elks' lodge will close the festivities. Music will be furnished by the Elks' Royal Purple band.

Because it is made so like the foot. Narrow at the heel; up-curved at the hollow of the arch, roomy across the ball.

And the yielding flexible shank adjusts itself automatically to any variation from normal in height of arch.

One big reason for the comfort of Cantilevers is the careful fitting which we insist upon, and which is made possible by Cantilever construction and range of widths.

PROHI AGENTS ARE INDICTED BY MIAMI JURY

Miami, Fla., June 2.—(P)—Five warrants, one charging assault with intent to kill and the others with breaking and entering, late today were filed against E. K. Keene and A. C. Givhan, federal prohibition agents, in the court of Justice of the Peace H. W. Penney.

The warrants were taken out by Dr. Ernest T. Lutz, A. J. Slocum, Harry J. Kearns and James Birmingham. The two federal agents were charged with having broken into the room of Dr. Lutz and to have beaten him at a local hotel. The other three men charged that the agents entered their respective rooms at the same hotel.

The conflicting trends were particularly in evidence before the house judiciary committee, which referred to a subcommittee the British resolution to block the President's executive order to enlist state and local police officers in enforcement activities. A few moments later it received from a subcommittee without recommendation, the Stalker bill to make jail sentence mandatory upon first offense conviction on charges of manufacture, sale and transportation of liquor.

The Stalker measure, almost identical with a bill by the New York member approved by the judiciary committee at the last session of congress, was sent back to the judiciary committee untouched after several hearings had been held by the subcommittee.

Proposals for a referendum and modification of the Volstead act will come before a senate judiciary subcommittee tomorrow, while measures to tighten up enforcement, will be considered by the house judiciary committee.

To Get a Good Shoe Fit

GOOD Fitting is next most important to right shoes in giving foot comfort. A man can get a good fit with the

Cantilever Shoe

Because it is made so like the foot. Narrow at the heel; up-curved at the hollow of the arch, roomy across the ball.

And the yielding flexible shank adjusts itself automatically to any variation from normal in height of arch.

One big reason for the comfort of Cantilevers is the careful fitting which we insist upon, and which is made possible by Cantilever construction and range of widths.

The Good Looks and Long Service of the Cantilever will please you, too. Just come in and see it on your foot.

Mr. Renney is survived by a daughter, Miss Ida Renney, a son, E. V. Renney and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Nell K. Renney.

AVIATOR TO ARRIVE AT LAKEWOOD TODAY

Work on grading the landing field, which is located on the ridge which parallels the south fence of Lakewood park and the Southeastern Fair grounds, is being rushed this week in order to have it in service within the next ten days.

Lieutenant Bunge served as a pilot in France during the World war.

HUGE SURPLUS SEEN THIS YEAR STATE DEMOCRATS PLAN CAMPAIGN

Washington, June 2.—(AP)—A surplus of $300,000,000 for this fiscal year which ends June 30, or about $100,000,000 more than estimated by President Coolidge, is in sight on the basis of conditions of the treasury at the end of May.

The treasury report made public today showed the surplus for the first eleven months was $35,000,000 more than for this period last year which was closed with a balance of $250,000,000.

Indications of the surplus led Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, to suggest another tax reduction. He asked Chairman Smoot, of the finance committee why further reduction was not in order immediately, and Smoot said he would have a statement to make later.

Crowds Welcome Swedish Royalty In Philadelphia With Train Gone, Reaches Wedding Scene by Plane

Philadelphia, June 2.—(AP)—Cheering crowds welcomed Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus and Crown Princess Louise Alexandra of Sweden as they motored through the city in a triumphal visit.

The royal pair smiled gaily and waved their hands.

The two members of the Swedish reigning family were formally welcomed to the Sesqui-Centennial city by Mayor Kendrick in historic Independence hall, to which they were escorted by the first troop, Philadelphia city cavalry, one of the oldest military organizations in the country.

The crown prince sat in the chair used by George Washington when he signed the constitution of the United States, and by the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

With the crown princess at his side and playing guides with questions about the Liberty bell that proclaimed America's freedom 150 years ago, the crown prince eagerly studied the lettering on the historic relic. He patted the bell affectionately and ran a finger through the famous crack.

The royal guests visited old Swedish church in the southern part of the city and participated in the cornerstone laying of a replica of a Swedish blockhouse that stood on the banks of the Delaware before William Penn founded the city of Philadelphia. The crown prince also took part in the cornerstone laying of the memorial building in honor of the memory of John Morrok, signer of the Declaration of Independence, who was of Swedish extraction.

The crown prince and princess are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury at their White Marsh Hall country estate on the northern edge of the city.

EVANGELIST DEFENDS YOUTH, RAPS PARENTS

Ceremonies in honor of the mothers of Atlanta, with the presentation of a basket of flowers to Mrs. Albert Rhinehart, 90, as the oldest mother in attendance, featured the George Moody revival service Wednesday night in the tent tabernacle at the corner of Park and Whitehall streets in West End.

The evangelist's subject was "Home," and he staunchly defended modern youth against criticism. The tendency toward overstepping the bounds of safe living he charged to the carelessness of mothers and fathers who are, he said, "trying to raise children with one hand and play cards or golf with the other."

The Wheat Street Baptist church negro choir will sing at the service at 7:30 tonight when the subject will be "The Abundant Life." Adlai Lewis, song leader and Bible lecturer, will speak on "The Plan of the Ages" at the regular afternoon service at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Services will continue daily at 3 o'clock and 7:30 o'clock throughout this week and next week.

HOUSE COMMITTEE APPROVES VINSON DISSEMINATION ACT

Washington, June 2.—(AP)—Bills designed to aid cotton and tobacco growers by requiring dissemination of more complete information about these crops were approved today by the house agriculture committee.

The measure by Representative Vinson, democrat, Georgia, for the first time would require the secretary of agriculture to take an actual census of a proportion of the cotton acreage. His agents would designate selected areas in every county of cotton regions and enumerators would be appointed to take the count. This partial cotton census would be completed by June 25 every year.

TOBACCO GROWERS TO REPORT AFFAIRS TO COURT MONTHLY

Raleigh, N. C., June 2.—(AP)—An order requiring the Tri-State Tobacco Growers Co-operative marketing association to make a report of its affairs on the tenth of each month to federal court and appointing an attorney, to be associated with counsel of the organization in the suit for recovery of alleged illegal redyeing profits from former officials, tonight appeared the probable outcome of the receivership suit federal court here.

This was the suggestion made tonight's session of court by Judge I. M. McKinnis, and agreed to by defense counsel. The counsel for the defendant approved the suggestion, if the court would not appoint a receiver. Colonel E. P. Buford of Lawrenceville, Va., plaintiff counsel, will close the argument Thursday afternoon when he will attempt to convince Judge McKinnis that the receiver should be appointed.

COMMISSIONERS OPEN MEET IN SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., June 2.—(AP)—County commissioners, seemingly from every county in Georgia, assembled in the banquet hall of Hotel DeSoto this evening at 8 o'clock to open the 12th annual session of the Association of County Commissioners of Georgia.

Registration was in full progress with the greater part of the day so that when President Rhodes Browne of Columbus sounded the gavel in the evening there were upwards of 400 delegates from all parts of the state here.

Helpers of Home Now Provide Wonderful New Refrigeration

For ages mankind has been endeavoring to evoke the aid of some kind of power to produce more work in a given time than he himself could do in the same time.

The history of power is replete with many interesting chapters and mankind of the present day owes much to those who sacrificed so much in experimenting and perfecting the many various kinds of power that it is our privilege and convenience to enjoy today.

It has been said by wise thinkers that in the element of electricity the surface has only been scratched and in this statement we must all agree with them, for the many marvelous inventions and aids of mankind brought out within the lifetime of men not yet fifty years old convince us that there is yet more to come. In the home we see many electrical appliances, such as lights, heaters, washers, vacuum cleaners, player-pianos, flat irons, curlers, coffee pots, toasters, mangles and many other conveniences and now comes electric refrigeration—a hot wire which will furnish power to make cold ice or air to preserve food.

The operating cost of a Servel is surprisingly low—in fact, no more than that of the older methods of refrigeration. The never-failing, ever-watchful force—electricity—is on the job day and night, furnishing not only clean cold, but also manufacturing as much as 25 pounds of ice in one day should one require it for beverages and other purposes.

The Georgia Railway & Power company, as in the past, on all electric and gas appliances, is offering its customers a liberal extended payment plan on the Servel. One may make a small cash payment and pay the balance in 18 months. All prices quoted include complete installation in the home, ready for operation. The display of electric refrigerators at the Retail Salesman of the Power company, 75 Marietta street, should be of particular interest to everyone.

Manufacturers of Canvas Busy Filling Camp Needs

Atlanta is more than maintaining its reputation as center for the canvas manufacturers of the south. Every one of the several big plants in this line are running to full capacity and some are working overtime three or four days a week.

This city, due to its central location in the textile world and being in the midst of the cotton country—the all important factor in the tent and awning business—is favored over other large canvas centers in the north and east and factories here can undersell to people in the south as against those who must buy southern cotton, ship it a long distance and then, when it is made up, send it back into the same territory where the cotton grew.

A representative of The Constitution, who calls on tent and awning firms every week, yesterday was shown through the Standard Tent and Awning company, of 292 Edgewood avenue. Seldom had the reporter seen a busier place than this. It seemed they were right in the midst of their awning season and the first campers were calling for tents and awnings.

The president, Davis J. Ricks, stated this is the best season "we have had since we began business" and have more help and better facilities than we have ever had before.

"A peculiar thing about the awning business this season," he added, "is that we have thousands of people now in Atlanta who through their travels in Florida have learned more about the value and styles in awnings than they have ever learned in any other way and they can very quickly appreciate the high quality and superior style of awnings we are making at this time."

The vice president here, W. J. Thomas, who is the outside sales manager, an expert of many years' experience, stated his line, stated that experience has taught him that while two houses may look alike, the same style of awnings may not always show to the same advantage, because of environments not being alike. "We therefore deem it advisable to see each house or building so we may be able to suggest what style or pattern might suit the particular building and blend it with the general surroundings."

"Speaking about patterns," further stated Mr. Thomas, "never in the history of the awning business have they been as pretty or varied as they are this season and it is surprising the great improvement in appearance few dollars spent in awnings will make to any building. If anybody in Atlanta and vicinity will give me a ring I will take pleasure in bringing one of the most complete line of samples ever seen in this section. As the Standard Tent and Awning company has always guaranteed its work, we take extra care to have pleased and satisfied customers."

OLD GUARD INVITED TO CUBAN WEDDING

W. M. Camp, of Atlanta, commander of the Old Guard, who was guest of the Cuban government on a trip last September, is in receipt of a unique invitation to the wedding of the daughter of President Machado of Cuba.

Invitations were received from both families of the bride and groom, and on one side was a special request that the invited guests be present at the ceremonies.

The invitations were addressed to W. M. Camp, commander, and members of the Old Guard of Atlanta.

WOLFE IS NOMINATED AS LIONS' PRESIDENT

Joseph B. Wolfe, well-known Atlanta insurance man, was nominated president of the local Lion's club at the regular weekly luncheon held Tuesday at the Anson hotel.

Others who were nominated at the meeting are: Arthur Stitt, first vice president; Walter Dillon, second vice president; Victor Todd, third vice president; A. C. Kaiser, treasurer and Paul Blackwell, secretary.

Now is the time when everybody lays away woolen blankets and woolen clothing. While some will be stored in where are supposed to be moth-proof places, this does not mean that some of the articles will not be moth eaten when again taken out in the fall.

Earl Knight, manager of the Guthman Laundry, 212 Whitehall street, an expert on those matters, says it is folly to store dirty blankets and woolens and then expect them to be moth-proof. Dirt and grease or soiled spots in the fold of blankets or dirt and grease collected in the seams of clothing and elsewhere are perfect food for moths. Eggs are laid in the folds of a blanket or seams of clothing and when stored for months, they hatch into moths and these unclean clothes provide the moths with a suitable pasture for the entire summer.

While brushing some woolens before putting them away does some good in some cases, there is nothing equal to the process we put woolen blankets through to thoroughly clean them and where the moth egg, which is not as large as a pin head, escapes the eye of those trying to brush them over, these eggs do not last long in our laundry.

Many may have packed their woolens away 30 or 40 days ago. That does not necessarily mean that they are safe and if there is any element of doubt that even one female moth may be in the cloth it would be well to look at the insect, for while this moth itself will not eat any of the cloth on account of its peculiar shape of mouth, it will lay eggs that turn into worms that look like caterpillars and these voracious, insignificant looking little things can spoil a high-priced garment in three or four days.

The Guthman laundry is especially prepared to clean woolen blankets and if you expect your blankets to be free from moth holes next winter just call Walnut 8861 or 0865 and you will know then that you have done your best to exterminate this insidious little pest that is doing millions of dollars worth of damage every year in American homes, all because owners of woolens do not have them washed or dry cleaned before putting them away.

When It's Sea Food You Want Fulton Market Will Serve You

Atlanta is an inland city, but the housewives and hotel keepers of this big city have an opportunity to get at their convenience any quantity of the most popular fish offered the American people.

This was made possible here 22 years ago by the Fulton Market at 27 East Alabama street, under T. J. Anderson, who has had more than 40 years' experience in the wholesale and retail fish business.

The Fulton Market, the largest private owned fish market and cold storage plant in the southern states today, gives the people of Atlanta and vicinity the opportunity of having the choice of the best fish procurable in America.

Should taste decree tomorrow that Mrs. Atlanta Housewife decided she wants fish from the Pacific coast, she can have salmon or halibut; if from Canada rivers and lakes—trout, perch and lake salmon; from the Great Lakes—white fish, yellow perch, mackinac and trout; from the New England coast—mackerel, finnan haddies, cod, smelts, lobsters and scallops; from the middle Atlantic coast states—oysters, shad, Virginia crockets and spots; from the North Carolina coast—soft shell crabs, crab meat, clams; from the Gulf of Mexico—pano, red snapper, mackerel, and a great variety of other fish.

Mr. Anderson and his son, W. K. Anderson, who has been associated with him in the fish business for more than 20 years, are very enthusiastic over the greater possibilities of fish, oyster, and shrimp business of the Georgia sea coast and inland waters of the coast counties. They see this fish business of the coast as one of the coming big industries and are highly encouraged by the attention the state and federal game and fish commissioners are now giving to help all interested parties to build up this important and prosperous industry.

The shrimp of Georgia, stated Mr. Anderson, "Wednesday, cannot be surpassed by others found anywhere else in the waters of the world and our coast cities are now the great centers in the shrimp business."

Fulton Market has the confidence of R. S. PARKER SPEAKS TO CEDARTOWN SCHOOL

Georgia Boy Orator Honored at Capitol

Washington, June 2.—(Special.)—Joseph A. Mullarky, of Augusta, Ga., arrived in the capital today to compete in the national oratorical contest as the representative of the south and the Constitution, and immediately began to share the welcome provided for the orators.

He and Herbert Wenig, of Hollywood, Calif., were the first two contestants to arrive in the city. The Georgia candidate was accompanied by Professor E. W. Hardy, of Richmond Academy, where Mullarky is a student.

The first two orators to arrive were met at the Union station by Randolph Leigh, national director of the contest. In the afternoon, they were guests at the competitive drill participated in by high school students of the capital.

Guest at Banquet.

Mullarky was honor guest at a banquet tonight at the White Peacock of 65 Georgians who reside in the capital. Wenig and John Aiso, a young Japanese student who was sent here in recognition of his oratorical merit in the Hollywood High school, which both he and Wenig attend, also were present at the dinner.

Soon after Mullarky had arrived here he went to the capitol and called upon Senator George. The Georgia senator was in a committee meeting but came out to welcome the young orator and the two posed together for the photographers.

Mullarky and Wenig were greeting each other by their first names within five minutes after their acquaintance was established, and the former insisted that both Wenig and Aiso accompany him to the capitol to meet Senator George.

While both boys vow their determination to "do their level best" to win the distinction of national finalist on Friday night they graciously have already advised each other that if one can't win they hope the other does.

Meet Girl Orator.

Both Mullarky and Wenig met Miss Myrtle Poesy, the eastern high school senior who will represent the Washington Star in the national finale, at the competitive drill. They agreed to root for one of the eastern companies to win, in compliment to Miss Poesy.

Details concerning their oratorical engagements which will up to their final regional victories were discussed to the exclusion of all other topics today. While neither Mullarky nor Wenig ever had seen Washington before, their first interest was in the acoustic powers of the Washington Auditorium, where they will speak Friday night before a distinguished audience of 8,000. The boys were given an opportunity to "try out" the Auditorium this afternoon and will have the same privilege tomorrow. The four other regional finalists are expected tomorrow. They are Miss Ann Hardin, of Louisville, Ky.; Miss Gail Beardman, of Minneapolis; Frank Cleary, of Philadelphia, and Miss Helen Hyland, of New York city.

The entire group will be received Friday at the white house at noon and tendered a luncheon at Eastern High school at 12:30 o'clock. Elaborate entertainment is planned also for the group on Saturday which will be climaxed by a banquet at the home of John Hays Hammond on Saturday night. Sunday will be devoted to sight seeing.

PLAN TO ILLUMINATE CITY AVIATION FIELD

Plans to illuminate Candler field so as to make airplane landing as practical at night as in the day will be presented soon to Mayor Walter Sims and the city council finance committee by Robert C. Turner, city electrician. This announcement Tuesday is regarded as a further step towards making Atlanta the airway metropolis of the south.

The equipment to be used in lighting the field will cost approximately $10,000, Mr. Turner announced. It will be necessary to have proper lighting effects for the field if it is to be made a terminus of the air mail route from New York to Atlanta and Alderman W. B. Hartfield, chairman of the municipal air board, expressed enthusiasm over the economical plan to light the field.

The system as proposed by Mr. Turner would include boundary lights around the field with a beacon light, 34 inches wide, over the hangar. The boundary lights would be equipped with lenses powerful enough to throw beams 5,000 feet. Field lights also would be installed.

HEARING FOR W. & A. IN TENNESSEE TODAY

Hearing of a petition filed by the state of Georgia for a permanent court order restraining the city of Chattanooga from attempting to extend two streets over state-owned property until an agreement in the case can be obtained will take place today before the court of appeals of Tennessee at Knoxville. Attorney General George M. Napier left Atlanta Wednesday night for Knoxville to present the argument for the state in the case.

The city of Chattanooga seeks to extend Broad street and Eleventh street across the yards of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, which are located on property leased to that road by the state of Georgia. Several buildings located on the state-owned property were destroyed by the city under condemnation proceedings. Further destruction of property was stopped through a temporary restraining order issued by the Tennessee court of appeals.

OF VITAL IMPORTANCE.

At the general election in November the voters of Georgia will be called upon to ratify a proposed constitutional amendment to perfect the vital statistics law so that the state may qualify in the federal registration area.

It is several months before this election and it is unthinkable that there should arise any objection to the amendment, which merely provides that counties may legally levy taxes to pay the fees for collecting birth and death records. The whole matter is of such vital importance, not only in aiding public health work, but in the economic welfare of all the people, that the voters should be thoroughly informed and aroused to the necessity of the amendment's validation.

It will be recalled that Georgia had a vital statistics department equal to that of any state, and the government's health reports therefrom were complete, and to the gratifying satisfaction of any person seeking a home or an investment in Georgia predicated upon official health conditions.

One year ago the supreme court ruled that Georgia counties could not levy taxes for the purpose of collecting vital statistics. Thereupon the entire structure was threatened and much of the state's organization broke down. It has been held together in an incomplete way since by the heroic effort of the state board of health aided by private citizens and a few county governments operating from other contingency funds. But the federal requirement is not met, nor can it be until the proposed amendment is written into the constitution.

States failing to properly acquire their vital statistics have no place in the federal health reports. Assuredly Georgia cannot afford to continue in such a position. Nor can public health work be effectively pushed without vital statistics upon which to base the programs and campaigns.

Prior to the discontinuance of these county statistics Georgia held the enviable first place in the federal records as to death rate in southern states based upon units of 1,000 population—the rate being 10.4 per cent, which is lower than 1.4 per cent than the rate for the entire United States. The death rate is no doubt just as low, or lower today, but the world cannot officially know it, for the federal government cannot report the 1925 status. Thus it is seen the state is losing an asset in advertising that is priceless, though as much merited as at any time in the past.

It is to correct and remedy this situation that the amendment was proposed at the extra session in April. Every voter should keep the matter in mind so that it may not be defeated through indifference or inadvertence.

THE NEW RAIL LAW.

Wage negotiations between the conductors and trainmen and the executives of eastern railroads were resumed Tuesday. The members of the brotherhoods request an increase of approximately 20 per cent over the existing wage scales.

In this connection it is interesting to recall that the Watson-Bryker railroad labor bill was enacted into law late in May by the provisions of which the railroad labor board was abolished and in its place a new plan set up for the settlement of railroad labor disputes.

The new law throws a larger measure of responsibility for amicable relations upon the industry itself. It was fought in congress on the contention that it left the public without adequate protection. In signing the bill the president stated this suggestion with the statement that the interstate commerce commission is sworn to protect the public "in prescribing just and reasonable rates under honest, efficient and economical management."

Scanting the possibility of a disagreement in the terms to be agreed upon as a result of the present conference, it will be of interest to watch the new machinery in action. From past performances the public has no good right to expect very much "protection" from the present interstate commerce commission. It will therefore watch its action from this time forward, with railroad self-government very largely increased under the Watson-Bryker law, with more than usual concern.

THE SWEETEST VICTORY.

In reviewing Sweetster's fine golf victory in England over our own Bobby Jones The New York Times points out the great disadvantage an American team has on an English course—not because of unfamiliarity with the courses, as is so often pointed out, but because of the few pitted against the many. It is a handicap that only real golfers can fully appreciate but such a formidable one that the winning of a British championship by an American on British links becomes a most extraordinary feat. Says The Times:

"The British advantage lay in having a great reserve out of which at any moment might come forth a player to fame unknown who would rise to great heights in a single day's play. Such was the man who beat Bobby Jones. Thereafter he promptly disappeared, as is customary in golf tournaments with the player who kills off a champion by unexpected prowess, only to exhaust himself in the act, and to see his game at once drop below its normal."

This is unmistakable. Skilled players recognize most the vicissitudes of temperament, accident, nerves—and the pressure of the overpowering "gallery" as well as reserve. There is no questioning that the element of luck enters—and sometimes decisively—into the winning of a championship. The Times continues:

"No praise seems too high for the courage and skill displayed by Mr. Sweetster in fighting his way to the finals of the British championship and then to the title, but he would doubtless be the first to admit that good fortune had much to do with his being the one of the few to emerge triumphant against the many."

This is a most considerate appraisal of the game, that most of the critics and students on both continents had picked the Atlanta champion to win. He played great golf—and so did the winner. But it was more luck than play that determined the victory. It could hardly have been otherwise under the handicap.

A NOTABLE TOKEN.

The directors and officials of the Citizens and Southern Bank at Savannah, with those of its several branch banks, in a meeting to which Mills B. Lane, president of the institution, had been invited, recently presented to him a solid gold loving cup as "a token of love and confidence," that day marking the 25th anniversary of Mr. Lane's incumbency as the executive head of that great institution.

Mr. Lane has seen the Citizen and Southern grow from a comparatively small institution to one of the 100 largest banks in the United States, with resources of $75,000,000, and with banking institutions in Atlanta, Augusta, Macon, Athens and Valdosta, in addition to its banking headquarters in Savannah.

As president of the Citizens and Southern for a quarter of a century, through periods of financial trials that shocked the whole country, and through serious farm depressions, the institution he heads has kept its face turned squarely to the front, moving at quickened step in every progressive procession, helping and strengthening every worth-while undertaking, all the while building up its own resources, and becoming the great Gibraltar of finance that it is today.

The earnest cooperation of those associated with him, who thus so fittingly expressed their love for him, is an impregnable fact in any record of such accomplishment.

White screech owls and blue alligators that climb trees are now reported from the Georgia moonshine districts.

Somehow or other, since the boom died, Florida manages to get along with just a dozen or two old-fashioned millionaires.

Says Road Bond Issue Has No Part in Coming State Election.

Editor Constitution: As the time approaches for the biennial elections, as usual, candidates are seeking for "issues" as planks of a platform upon which to get in on. A retrospective will show the election of two governors show the main issue of the abolition of the equalization law, and yet it stands today unreplicated. Candidates are seeking now to inject into the approaching campaign the issue of "bonds" and "anti-bonds," in spite of the fact that the recent session of the general assembly precluded the possibility of this being an issue until November, 1928, the earliest time when the question can be submitted to a vote of the people. The issue is one that can only be settled by a vote of the people at a general election, and a constitutional question, and the Georgia constitution provides, article 1, section 5, paragraph 1:

"The people of this state have the inherent, sole and exclusive right of registering their internal government and the police thereof, and of altering and abolishing their constitution whenever it may be necessary to their safety and happiness."

It is an inherent, sole and exclusive right reserved to the people by their organic law.

The legislature cannot consider or vote upon the issue of bonds for highways. They can only vote to submit the question of this inherent, sole and exclusive right for settlement by the people who alone can determine it.

The terms of office of the governor and members will have preciesely expired before the issue of bonds is coming campaign, and it is possible to be submitted for determination, viz: November, 1928. As an issue, it is the very smoke screen which only effect is to deceive the voter whether so intended or not. These few lines are written with the hope that they may see through.

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

New York, June 2.—Twenty-five or thirty years ago, the East Side had nothing but contempt and hatred for the high-brow chaps with their silk toppers, soup and fish and high fallout manners. When they came a-slum-ming through the Ghetto they were in-sulted to be pelted with cabbage heads, bad eggs and even worse.

Those days are as far behind as the red flannel shirt and the woolen night cap. The East Side, in its dress, likes to be formal. Every street corner has an emporium where evening gowns and clothes may be hired. The price is $5 per 24 hours, but the customer is expected to pay for cleaning if he has spilt soup or liquor.

Spilt liquor does not leave spots, it leaves liquor.

No man can know all of New York for the simple reason that it's always changing, and reforming itself. Take for instance, the shipping district, bordering on the financial, which is in constant flux.

The warehouses still bear the marks of having been once dwelling places of well-to-do merchants. From warehouses they are changing into restaurants, cafes, grills, rathskellers, pigs-knuckle joints, German hoffbraus.

HEALTH TALKS

BASAL METABOLISM.
In one respect basal metabolism is just like blood pressure, uric acid, temperature, spots before the eyes,
that tired feeling at times, and auto-intoxication—everything has it.

A normal adult at rest in bed and fasting and under no excitement or anxiety gives off heat from his body to the amount of about one calorie per hour per kilogram of body weight.

A calorie is the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of a kilogram of water one degree centi-grade. A kilogram is equivalent to about 2.2 pounds.

This basal production when the engine is idling comes from the oxidation of combustion of fuel for the maintenance of the body's functions and the circulation and the respiration, mainly. Therefore the measurement of this minimal energy consumption is of great importance in diagnosing the metabolic rate.

It is the standard for comparison in taking energy requirements, and it is remarkably constant, as constant as body temperature or pulse rate, it is simple to determine how many calories are being burned.

Miami, Fla., June 2.—(AP)—An antiquated heirloom of former Kaiser Wilhelm's floating household, the one-time palatial yacht Nohab, constructed originally at a cost high in the six-figure class, was sold on the auction block here today for $6,100.

The sale was held by the United States marshal to satisfy liens filed in federal court against the craft.

Southern Women Praised At Atlantic City Meeting

Mrs. Tibbitts and Mrs. Douglas Commended for Work

Atlantic City, N. J., June 2.—(AP)—The work of two southern club women for conservation of national resources was praised today at the Federated Women's club convention by Mrs. Wilbur W. Miller, of Ohio, chairman of the division of federated activities. The women were Mrs. Katherine B. Tibbitts, of Florida, of the subcommittee on forestry and wild life, and Mrs. Royden Douglas, of the water and waterways committee.

Mrs. Tibbitts is nationally known as the "bird lady." Her report to the convention urged club women to work for legislation which will make compulsory the study of birds and wild flowers in order to promote direct interest in birds and flowers. Mrs. Tibbitts has instituted intensive campaigns in all states for the choice of state birds and flowers and laid special emphasis on the conservation of Christmas trees so that the buyer may know that he is receiving legitimate forest products or nursery stock was advocated by her division.

Mrs. Douglas has the responsibility of directing attention to the economic value of national waterways. She advocated a careful study of the irrigation and power phases of the Colorado river and the question of the largest use and greatest control of the Mississippi river system.

"The conservation division recognizes that the pollution of lakes and estuaries is one of the greatest economic losses and unsanitary menaces of our country. The lower reaches of the Mississippi river system bear the brunt of this pollution of 23 states of the union with the appalling industrial waste into lakes and oceans in an economic waste which an awakened public thought must stop."

Clear Moving Pictures. The fight for clean moving pictures is to be prosecuted with new force by the general Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. John D. Sherman, president, declared today.

"I am anxious that this program shall be pushed much harder in the future than it has been," said Mrs. Sherman. "Definite plans are maturing. The program includes intensive work through local committees in all parts of the country."

"Two things I feel strongly about in connection with the women's work for clean shows: First, they must not themselves patronize the pictures they are trying to keep their children away from. Second, they must not accept free passes to pictures and studios, thereby giving producers and managers the idea that our friendship is to be easily won through their glorious handouts."

"Let women pay their way into the good pictures they support and work for, and stay away from the others," Mrs. Alfred Tyler, of Chicago, chairman of motion pictures, summarized her report today to the general confederation convention on the lines on which the committee was working. These were:

First, the furnishing of committees working with local managers with classified lists of good and bad pictures.

Second, the building of these local committees into strong units, headed by a responsible and capable chairman.

Third, the sponsoring of education films, which may be shown in communities that would not otherwise take them through the women's clubs.

Fourth, continuance on the part of the general federation of cooperation with all organizations working for good pictures, but the preserving of absolute independence.

Election of Officers. Election of officers was in progress today. While the results will not be announced until tomorrow there were no candidates nominated from the floor or by the committee to oppose Mrs. Sherman, of Estes Park, Colo., for reelection as president, and Mrs. Edward Franklin White, of Indianapolis, and Miss Florence Dibert, of Johnstown, Pa., for another term as first and second vice presidents respectively. Candidates for the first term of office were Mrs. H. G. Reynolds, of Iudacah, Ky., for treasurer, and Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, of Brockton, Mass., for recording secretary, and they also were unopposed.

Resolutions adopted today advocated uniform marriage and divorce laws, supported legislation to establish the rights of the American Indian under the constitution and requested a federal survey of juvenile delinquency and its problems.

The resolutions committee today was requested to declare a measure urging support for the senate bill for the retirement of veteran emergency officers, disabled in line military duty in the world war, an emergency resolution so that it may come before this convention.

A black-faced "naamies" handing out New Orleans pralines surprised the delegates. They were the New Orleans delegation, headed by Mrs. A. J. Morrison, president of the New Orleans federation, and they were pleading the cause of New Orleans as the most interesting city, "at the next biennial city."

Several tips were picked up by Mrs. Baumgartner, who at first refused them. She announced: "Very well, I'll take them for the general federation."

The New Orleans invitation will be formally extended on Friday, and the decision announced after the close of the convention on Saturday. Several other cities, including Biloxi, Miss., and San Antonio, Texas, are competing.

ICE PLANT LEASES SITE AT AVONDALE

Another feature soon will be added to the many advantages already offered by Avondale Estates, G. F. Willis, owner of the development, Wednesday announcing lease to the Consumers company of land for erection of a model ice plant.

The factory will be erected on a plot 50 by 150 feet on the east side of Stone Mountain highway, extending from the road to the electric car line, and will be ready for retail and wholesale service within a few weeks.

This establishment will serve Avondale Estates and other nearby communities, including Scottdale, Clarkston and other points. The building will be of old English architecture, the distinctive type that prevails in the business block, clubhouses and even in filling stations.

Announcement was made Wednesday that the new business block at Avondale is expected to be completed by June 15. This will give the suburb 17 modern business establishments.

PEASE AND TAYLOR DRAW THIRTY-DAY STOCKADE TERMS

Palmer Pease, 80-year-old negro preacher with a challenging record of almost as many years, and Ollie Taylor, who police charge with being a chronic bootlegger and who was implicated with Pease in an automobile accident last Sunday, was sentenced Wednesday to serve 30 days in the stockade by Recorder A. W. Callaway.

However, both may escape if Palmer's concrete raises the sum of $16, which he was fined, and if Judge Callaway relents and recommends mercy for Taylor to the mayor.

Besides his 30-day sentence, Taylor drew fines aggregating $110 and was held to the state court under testimony of Petrolman Rawls, who stated that he and his brother officer, Sewell, were fired upon while chasing an automobile containing Taylor.

Rawls did not testify that Taylor fired the shot, but said it came from the side of the automobile that Taylor occupied.

Former Bandit Accuses Hale In Osage Murders

Pawnee, Okla., June 2.—(AP)—Dick Gregg, formerly a member of the notorious Al Spencer gang of bandits, testified here today that W. K. Hale had attempted to hire him to kill W. E. Smith, Fairfax rancher.

The testimony was given at the trial of Ernest Burkhart, Hale's nephew, who is charged with killing Smith.

Smith's death is one of several that have occurred in this vicinity since 1921 in which federal and state officials claim an attempt was made to get possession of the property of rich Osage Indians. Hale is accused of being the leader of the plot and is scheduled to go to trial for Smith's death as soon as Burkhart's trial is completed. Gregg, a prisoner of the Kansas state penitentiary is the third witness to have testified that Hale had tried to hire him to kill Smith.

He is under sentence for robbing a bank in Elgin, Kansas.

Kelsey Morrison, who yesterday said he killed Anna Brown, Osage Indian woman, today gave the details of the alleged crime. Hale had paid him to do it and furnished the gun, Morrison testified. He and Byron Burkhart and Ernest Brock got the woman drunk, the witness said and then Byron held her in a sitting position while Morrison shot her.

Smith, his wife and a white maid were killed in an explosion that demolished their home.

Crackers Nose Out Lookouts in Tight Game, 3 to 1

Cliff Markle Hurls Great Game in Final; Haas, Niehaus Stars

Same Teams To Open Series in Atlanta Today—Dutch Krehmyer Fails To Report To Lookouts.

BY W. G. FOSTER.
Chattanooga, Tenn., June 2.—(Special.)—Superior support and a nail-biting duel from Cliff Markle to win a pitching duel from Decatur Jones this afternoon by a 3-to-1 count in the rubber game of the series. The teams varied from their accustomed playing match system, and played a real, old-fashioned game of baseball, in which the team that played the best brand won out.

A triple by Mule Haas started the victory parade in the seventh, and another by Al Niehaus led to a clinching run in the ninth. Markle was confronted by men on bases right along, but he was always firmly in the saddle except in the sixth, when a base-running game robbed the Lookouts of a run after they had scored one.

The Lookouts had a chance in the second when Bigelow led off with a knock and Cy Anderson walked, but Handrimer bumped to Niehoff for a double play. Markle took himself a double in the third when he failed to touch first on a long drive to left center. The Lookouts had another opportunity in the fifth when, with one out, Hartford's hit got past Haas for three bases, but Niehaus smothered Keller's hot one and there was no scoring.

Chattanooga Scores.
The home team tallied in the sixth. Lewis beat one to short and Carroll doubled first. Don Anderson tapped to Niehoff, who, after blinding Lewis back toward third, turned his attention to Carroll, and Lewis scored while Carroll was run down. Anderson took second on the play and Sweeney ran for him. Bigelow beat a short to short, Sweeney taking third. Cy Anderson sent Haas back nearly to the fence for his fly, but Sweeney's knock-out hit turned him up the line. Instead of scoring, he had trouble getting back to third safely. Izzy ended the inning.

The Crackers won in the seventh. Haas tripled over Bigelow's head and Johnson's hoist scored him. Izzy tried to kick a field goal with Good's roller and the ball to the right, but Good lined. Good taking second, Carroll raced to the fence for Niehaus' drive and in a twisting position, dropped it. Good, for the second time, only made it, Niehaus getting a two-base hit. Brock was given an intentional pass. Gilbert cracked a hot one to short. There was ample time for a double play, but Izzy fumbled Hartford's peg momentarily and then threw low to first. Brock was out at second, but Gilbert beat the throw to first and Good romped over with the winning run.

Hartford pried the home seventh with a blow and Keller sacrificed, but the omnipresent Niehaus stopped Jones, and Lewis breezed. In the Cracker ninth, Niehaus tripled along the right foul line and Brock sent him home with that rarest of plays these modern days—the squeeze.

With one out in the ninth, Handrimer got a hit. Hartford smashed to Niehoff and a peculiar play resulted. Izzy hustled and beat the throw to second, but the relay from Murphy got Hartford at first. Keller's high one to Haas ended the game.

Where Is Dutch?
The Chattanooga team is in a mixed up condition. Krehmyer hasn't reported and it is understood that he will not report. George Cunningham is apparently under suspension or has been released to bring the team inside the limit, though no announcement has been made. Should Krehmyer not report, it is presumed that cash will be received for Tom Rogers, or he will revert to the Lookouts.

The teams left tonight for Atlanta, where they will resume their feud during the next three games. Pitching staffs of both teams are considerably upset as a result of the series here and tomorrow's hurlers had not been decided when the squads boarded a train here tonight.

New York, June 2.—Gertrude Ederle, who holds more records than any other girl swimmer in the world, sailed today on the Berengaria for her second—and what she confidently expects to be her successful—attempt to swim the English channel.

During her trip abroad and the entire period of her training Miss Ederle will write her experiences exclusively for The Constitution. RICKARD SAYS HE WILL NAME DEMPSEY'S FOE

BY FRANK GETTY.
New York, June 2.—Tex Rickard put his foot on his big mahogany desk Wednesday afternoon, tilted his hat down over his eyes and smiled knowingly down on an expensive-looking cigar while the boxing world stewed on his doorstep, eager for news about the forthcoming heavyweight championship fight—if any.

Indifference, feigned or otherwise, was the promoter's reaction to the boxing commission's demand that Jack Dempsey sign for a Willis fight before June 22.

"I'll tell you Jack'll fight, and when he'll fight, when I get ready," drawled Rickard. "Say, boys, Jack's in great shape, even if he was a bit sick there a few days ago. Let me tell you about the champ, and let's forget about his opponent for a while."

Tex, who returned Wednesday from a conference with Dempsey, waxed enthusiastic over the heavyweight champion's return to ring form. "I think he'll whip who ever he fights," predicted Rickard. "And you know, I believe Jack'd rather it was Willis than Tunney."

The promoter said he would not appear before the boxing commission at its meeting tomorrow.

Helen and Suzanne Win Opening Matches Of Paris Tournament

American Girl's Backers Alarmed at Helen's Poor Form—Many Predict She Will Fall Before Finals—Lenglen at Top of Game.

Paris, June 2.—(By The Associated Press.)—Helen Wills and Suzanne Lenglen, rival tennis champions of America and Europe, won their opening matches today as the international hard court championships were launched in an icy drizzle which compelled most of the spectators to retire before the contests were completed.

Mlle. Lenglen triumphed impressively over Madame Peter, the Hungarian champion, 6-0, 6-0, but Miss Wills was extended to the limit of her game to advance in straight sets against Mme. Golding of France, 6-3, 7-5.

Although the popular American girl's appearance in the same tournament with Mlle. Lenglen developed unusual interest, even the hardest of the spectators refused to leave the club to see her match with Mme. Golding. Less effective in her stroking than in previous visits, Miss Wills appeared to have recovered in some degree, however, from her slump, and she had enough in reserve to save off the whirlwind finish of her foe in the closing set.

Mme. Golding carried her fight to the net at every opportunity and it seemed at one time that she would compel Miss Wills to yield at least one set. Suzanne's former doubles partner at one period of the second set led in games at 5 to 3, and carried the sixth game to 40-30. The score then went to deuce five times before Helen finally broke through to save the game, and then rally to take the set.

The California girl closed with a sensational burst of speed. Mme. Golding, swept off her feet, netted many shots and was able to make only two points in the final three games.

Suzanne sandwiched her match between showers of rain, displaying all her old dash and cleverness. Her opponent proved an inadequate test of her playing form, however, since the French girl was able to score 56 points in her rivals 26 in the 12 games.

Playing in the men's competition, Vincent Richards, of New York, America's third ranked player, disposed of M. Hirsch, a young Frenchman, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4. Richards was not called upon at any stage of the contest to exert himself.

The Mexican player, Idela Borbolla, was beaten by the Czech-Slovakian Jar. Mecnauer, 6-1, 7-5, 6-3. All the other favorites in the tournament came through without being pressed, many matches being put off on account of unfavorable weather.

HELEN'S BACKERS REGISTER ALARM.
Paris, June 2.—(United News.)—Genuine alarm lest Helen Wills, American women's tennis champion, is entering the French hard court championships unfit to do her best exists among the young California girl's admirers.

Many even fear that Miss Wills will not reach the finals of the women's singles, where she would meet Suzanne Lenglen. The organizers of the tournament in which the most international tennis stars are entered, are postponing preparations for a Wills-Lenglen final until they see how Helen fares against Miss B. L. Colyer of England, and Mlle. "Didi" Vlasto.

All this because the Californian is suffering from a cold which she cannot shake off, and because Helen's friends declare she has been playing too much tennis and needs a rest.

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!

roll 'em ahead and roll 'em with P.A.

IF YOU'VE never rolled a cigarette with Prince Albert, you're like a fellow standing in line on pay-day. You've got something good coming to you! Good? Well, that word's hardly strong enough. You've got more downright roll-your-own pleasure coming to you than you ever thought possible.

Because, P. A. makes the best little home-rolled cigarette ever. No better cigarette tobacco than Prince Albert ever curled up in a paper. It's crimp-cut and stays put. Doesn't flutter to the floor as you roll it. This is just a detail, of course. The taste is the big thing.

Cigarettes made with Prince Albert taste great. They smoke so cool and sweet, you'll want to make one right after the other. They're fragrant as honey-suckle. Never bite the tongue or parch the throat. The Prince Albert process attended to that little item right at the beginning.

Get a tidy red tin or a toppy red bag of P. A. today. Make yourself some wonderful cigarettes. For variety, try a load or two of this same, wonderful tobacco in the bowl of your old jimmy-pipe. No matter how you smoke it or where, Prince Albert is a grand little pal.

Coolidge Executive Order Denounced by Beveridge As Dangerous Precedent

Former Indiana Senator Declares States Will Be Subjected To Control From Washington.

Philadelphia, June 2.—(AP)—President Coolidge's recent executive order on prohibition matters was the subject of criticism in an address tonight by Albert J. Beveridge.

The former Indiana senator spoke before the historical society of Pennsylvania in its celebration of the sesqui-centennial of American independence.

He said that the order empowering local officers to become agents of the federal government was a step, "which if it succeeds and becomes permanent and general, will radically and fundamentally change our form of government, and change it at once."

"To make local officials also federal officials," he said, "is in practical effect, to destroy our political subdivisions, or, at the very least, to subject towns, cities, counties and states to a national control centralized at Washington."

"The former officer of our regular army who devised this change in the American system and who is in charge of the execution of it, tells us the constitutional pretext for it. He says that the hitherto exclusive police power of the states is now shared by the central government. If this military and bureaucratic exposition of constitutional law is sound, the planners and builders of American institutions wrought in vain."

Enforce Other Laws.

"It is obvious that if local officers can be made national officials to execute one national law in a particular locality, they can be made agents of a general and centralized government to enforce other national laws in every locality. If a careful president, like our present chief executive, would use wisely this unlimited and essentially autocratic power, a headless president might use it recklessly. Such boundless authority in the unrestrained hands of a certain type of supreme executive, could be employed to destroy the very reform which it is now invoked to support."

"In the realm of practical politics, this power could be exercised to build and run a political machine, national in extent and national-wide in its operation and efficiency."

Speaking on "the mania for law manufacture," Mr. Beveridge said that "the result of a minor change in states as well as nation is a legal, social, economic and political confusion in American, less intelligent and more contradictory than was beheld by Alice in Wonderland."

Direct Public Opinion.

"Many good people," he said, "have been taught to denounce their fellow citizens as sinners, merely because they do not agree that some social or economic theory is sound. Instead of the use of discussion to form and direct public opinion, public opinion is used to prevent and extinguish discussion."

"All this has come about in spite of our free institutions, because well-meaning women and men have been afflicted by a kind of ecclesiastical complex, and, in that state of mind, have been induced to look upon law, administration and even the judicial function itself, as aspects of religion. Such an attitude is neither moral or intelligent—it is merely stolid and intolerant."

Mr. Beveridge cautioned against participation in European affairs, because "meddling" in foreign affairs disrupts the work of welding the racial groups in this country into one people.

CHINA MISSIONARIES TO MAKE HOME HERE

Dr. and Mrs. T. W. Ayers, for the past 25 years missionaries in China, arrived in Atlanta yesterday to make their permanent home in this city. Dr. and Mrs. Ayers left Shanghai on May 8 and arrived in San Francisco on May 28, coming here immediately by train.

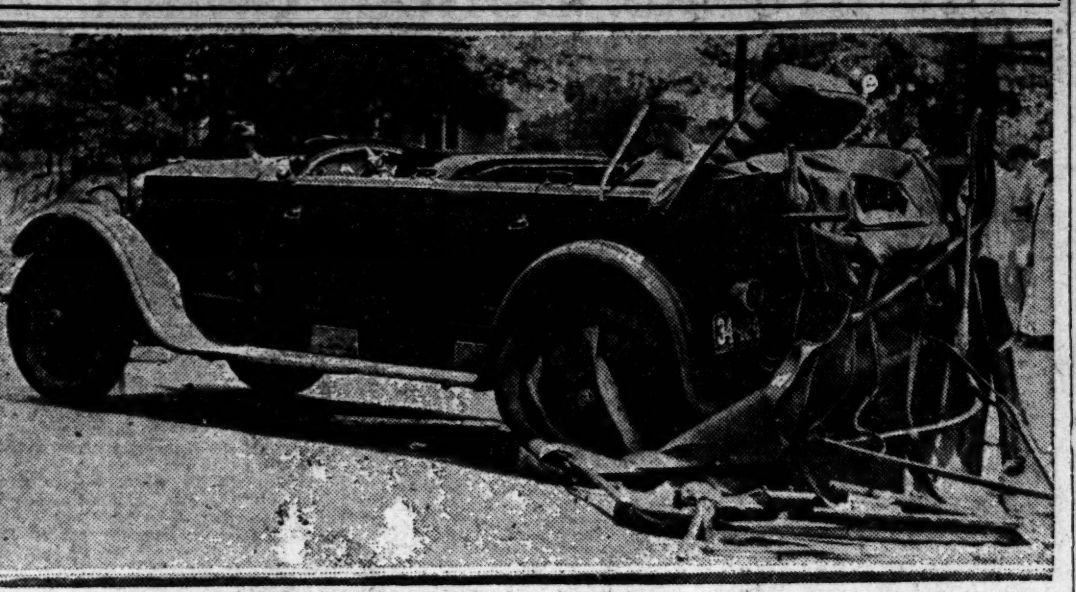

Dr. and Mrs. Ayers are with their daughter, Mrs. Lucy Pitman, on Myrtle street. They were welcomed at the train yesterday by a large company of friends and last night an informal reception was held in their honor at the home of Mrs. Pitman by the T. E. L. class of the Druid Hills Baptist Sunday school, of which Mrs. Pitman is the teacher. Mrs. Ruby DeLaperriere is the president of the class.

Dr. Ayers has been in charge of the Warren Memorial Baptist hospital in Hwang-Hsien, Shantung province. It was built by the First Baptist church of Macon and has been supported by the Baptist women of Georgia.

H. G. CARSON HELD ON STABBING COUNT

Charged with stabbing Lee Bowles, of 28 Savannah street, several weeks ago, H. G. Carson, 24, of 600 East Fair street, Wednesday was held to the state court by Recorder A. W. Callaway under $1,000 bond. Bowles was so seriously injured that he is still an inmate of the Grady hospital. Carson was bound over on testimony of Miss Rosa Suttles, 14 Loomis avenue.

PAST WEATHER DATA USELESS

tion of April, 1925, which was above the average by several degrees, registered the same temperatures. A usual summer followed the spring of 1924, while the most unusual weather in the history of Atlanta came along in the summer of 1925. It is impossible to determine, it is pointed out, just what is going to happen next. Everybody remembers what happened last summer. Taking the months of March, April and May of 1925—the highest temperature in March was 81 degrees; the lowest was 18 degrees; rainfall measured 2.10 inches; there were two light frosts and three killing frosts; three thunderstorms and 284 hours of sunshine. For April—the highest temperature was 93 degrees; the lowest 39 degrees; rainfall was 2.46 inches; one light frost was recorded; three thunderstorms and 274 hours of sunshine. For May—the highest temperature was 91 degrees; the lowest 42 degrees; rainfall slumped to 1.00 inch; there were no frosts; seven thunderstorms and 284 hours of sunshine.

Records for Summer, 1925.

The sort of spring described in the foregoing paragraph was followed by this sort of weather: June—the highest temperature was 97 degrees; the lowest 66 degrees; rainfall, 2.43 inches; there were 10 thunderstorms and 309 hours of sunshine. During this month the mercury went to or above 90 degrees 15 times and above 95 degrees twice. July—the highest temperature was 101 degrees; the lowest 67 degrees; rainfall was 2.38 inches; there were 12 thunderstorms and 264 hours of sunshine. During July Atlanta sweltered under temperatures above 90 for 16 of the month's 31 days. The mercury reached 101 on July 8; 97 on July 4; 95 July 13; 96 July 2. For August—the highest temperature was 100 degrees; the lowest 62 degrees; rainfall was 4.40 inches; there were 14 thunderstorms and 302 hours of sunshine. The mercury went above 90 degrees 15 times during August. September was one of the most unusual months Atlanta has ever known. The highest temperature was 102 degrees; the lowest recorded on three days, September 5, 7 and 8. The lowest was 66 degrees. The mercury went to or above 90 degrees 10 times during September. Rainfall for the month registered 3.29. There were 27 days in September on which either no rain fell at all or precipitation was too little to measure.

BEAVERS GRANTED 30-DAY HOLIDAY

that "when the committee is not in session, I will be chief." While he did not elaborate on this assertion, it was taken to mean that he considers the entire committee in actual session supreme, but that he has no sympathy with activities in the department of individual members.

Many raids headed by members of the police committee have been conducted in the recent past, and Beavers indicated that he will have little sympathy with a continuance of this practice but will expect to receive orders and instructions only from the full committee in formal session.

If an aid to Beavers told the meeting, "and all soon will be well with the department. I want to say that I have malice for none, and that my only desire is to labor in the service of Atlanta."

The meeting took the form of a love feast in Beavers' honor. The chief in asking for his 30-day leave of absence, stated that he would attend the police chiefs' national convention in Chicago in July and would have to regain his health fully following a recent strike of paralysis.

Fines of $6,583.

Lieutenant E. S. Davis, formerly of the vice squad, reported that 404 city cases and 155 state cases were docketed by his squad in May. Twenty-five cases still remain, he said, fines aggregating $6,583.

The police committee passed a resolution asking the finance committee to increase the salary of J. J. Barnes, inspector of weights and measures, from $1,680 to $2,000 per year.

The police band was given permission to play at the opening of Kennesaw mountain memorial park.

WOMEN DEMAND CLEAN-UP OF CITY

than make up for the airing of the city's dirty linen. Things have come to the pass when some relief must be afforded."

Many Back Charges.

Short addresses in support of Mrs. Andrews' charges and demands were made by the pastor of Wesley Memorial church and a prominent reform worker; Mrs. J. B. Robbins, W. C. T. U. leader and chairman of the jail committee of the Druid Hills Methodist church; Mrs. Donald Loyles, chairman of the Eighth Ward League of Women Voters; Mrs. R. L. Turman, president of the League of Women Voters; Mrs. J. D. Evans, chairman of the citizen committee of the Atlanta Woman's club; Mrs. W. C. McDonald, superintendent of the social service committee of the south Atlanta district of Methodist churches.

Responding for the constructive suggestions they might make to the committee, he said the committee would do all in its power to bring about the results sought by the women.

Points To Courts.

While making no attack, he pointed to the failure of courts to deal promptly and sternly with law violators after 24 hours of arrest. He drew attention to the fact that professional bondsmen stand ready to aid practically all prisoners.

The women demanded that the police committee actively and wholeheartedly support Chief of Police S. W. Morris, and that they should see to it that the department in keeping with Beavers' appointments. Especially did they urge that his recommendation of the chief of police be followed.

Transfer of reform activities of the women to the police department followed closely on the heels of a recent sensation in city council caused by Mrs. Andrews' charges of drunkenness on the floor of the city's governing body. Acting on a demand from a member of council that she give full details of her charges, Mrs. Andrews publicly named Alderman J. Allen Cook as having been under the influence of liquor at a council meeting, and insinuated that four others were either drinking or guilty of questionable conduct.

Alderman Couch apologized publicly to the city and to council, and the matter was abruptly dropped when council accepted the apology and voted to file Mrs. Andrews' charges. Other councilmen indirectly charged denied their guilt.

U. S. ANNOUNCES PLAN TO BRING S-51 TO HARBOR

Washington, June 2.—(AP)—A preliminary notice to mariners of the towing of the wrecked submarine S-51 into the New York navy yard was published today by the hydrographic office, to be supplemented by radio when the date for the movement is fixed.

ports, while Mason claims that he was entering Edgewood avenue from Pryor and that the light changed from green to amber while he was in the act of turning. Mason, according to witnesses, stated that Herbig was driving at a fast rate of speed and crashed into him. A case of reckless driving was made against both drivers.

The sedan driven by Herbig turned completely over, the gasoline tank burst and the gasoline ran in a stream down Edgewood avenue. Immediately after the crash some one threw a lighted match on the street some 40 feet away and the gasoline ignited and quickly worked its way to the overturned sedan. The fire was soon enveloped in flames. The fire department was summoned. Hundreds of pedestrians blocked the streets for several minutes while minutes worked to save Mason's car.

Another Accident.

Appetite Gone?

A tempting, delicious looking meal—all the choicest morsels from a well stocked pantry. The fragrant aroma of all these good things falling to put a keen edge on your appetite—falling to arouse, in any degree, a hardy relish for the food so attractively placed before you. Why?

Scores of men and women are faced with the same misfortune. After a day of toil—when they are tired—when good things to eat should be ravenously sought to re-charge their vitality and fit them for play time—their stomachs turn. They are worn down, played out. Food has no appeal. To them it is sickening. The aroma of appetizing things nauseates them. Red blood cells are missing. Red blood which should be coursing through your veins strengthening your vitality—adding to your strength—keeping you healthy and fit—is not to be found.

S. S. S. is what is needed. Your blood needs purifying. What use is an automobile without a battery? What advantage is a dynamo without electricity? Your body is a human dynamo. Your blood cells supply the energy which keeps your body well and fit. Weakened blood cells make you like the storage battery with dry cells—power is lacking—energy gone—productive qualities at the lowest ebb. S. S. S. supplies the red blood cells—the spark that recharges your system.

Mr. James Chaloupka, Sherman School, Chillicothe, Ohio, writes: "I feel like a new man after taking S. S. S. It gave me a better appetite and cleared my skin of pimples and blackheads."

Carefully selected, scientifically proportioned and prepared herbs and barks make up S. S. S.—the great blood purifier. Give nature a helping hand. Get back the lost appetite—the missing vitality—keen, sparkling eyes—that look of determination. The best way to start back over the road to well being is with S. S. S. Nerves will become stronger. S. S. S. will give you more energy, vitality and vigor, and a more "up and going" appearance.

S. S. S. is sold at all leading drug stores. Try a bottle and see for yourself. The large size bottle is more economical. Get one today.

Miss Evelyn Knox Weds Mr. Powell At Beautiful Home Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Evelyn Knox and Cecil Weaver Powell, which was solemnized Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fitzhugh Knox, on Piedmont avenue, marked the beginning of a number of beautiful weddings for the month of June. The occasion was characterized by exquisite beauty and brilliance, assembling a large number of Atlanta society. The Rev. N. R. High Moor, of St. Luke's Episcopal church, read the impressive marriage service, while James Alderson, organist for St. Luke's church, rendered an appropriate musical program preceding the ceremony, with violin accompaniment. During the marriage service Mr. Alderson played softly on the piano.

Handsome Decorations. The spacious living room, where the ceremony was performed, was elaborately decorated, the colors of green and white being effectively carried out in the foliage and flowers. At the far end of the room was an altar of massive palms, ferns, and Ascension lilies, placed at intervals were cathedral candelabra burning tall white tapers. A beautiful white satin pique dress stood in front of the floral background. Suspended overhead was a magnificent wedding bell fashioned of valley lilies, white roses, smilax and swainsons. The reception rooms were decorated artistically with a profusion of pastel shaded flowers, smilax and potted plants. The bride party descended the broad staircase and passed through an aisle made of tall baskets overflowing with lovely Madonna lilies and ferns. Garlands of smilax, studded with lilies, were gracefully draped between the baskets, while huge bouquets of the lilies adorned the lower part of the floor.

Wedding Attendants. Miss Beanie Mitchell and Miss Alice Callaway, of Miami, Fla., the two attractive bridesmaids, entered first, followed by the two groomsmen, William Pryor and Britton Knox.

Next came Miss Lena Knox, who was her sister's maid of honor, and Miss Suzanne Knox, youngest sister of the bride, who acted as junior maid of honor.

The two bridesmaids and the two maids of honor wore robes of style fashioned of white tulle. The uneven hem lines were faced with pink taffeta, this same lovely shade of tulle forming the rolled collars of the sleeveless bodices. Wide pink satin ribbons were caught at the back of each shoulder, extending to the back waistline where a soft bow was tied, the ends falling the length of the long skirt. Delicate pink silk flowers applied on the front of the skirt continued the lovely note of color in the trimming. They wore pink satin slippers and carried huge bouquets of pink roses, lavender and gold snapdragons, blue sweet peas and valley lilies.

Little Miss Harriet Rogers, niece of the groom, was flower girl. She preceded the bride, wearing a replica of the bridesmaids' costumes and carrying a French basket of white flowers, the handle tied with pink taffeta ribbons.

Beautiful Bride. The blonde loveliness of the youthful bride was enhanced by her beautiful wedding robes of white bridal satin. Fashioned along the modish period lines it reached to ankle length at the back, with a raised hem line at the front. The front of the close-fitting bodice was ornamented with a graceful bowknot extending to the waistline. A panel of exquisite Duchess lace, the lace design outlined in pearls, formed the front part of the skirt, this same lovely shade of tulle forming the upper part of the stately court train. White satin was used for the lower part of the train, the satin joining the lace with spray of blossoms. Enveloping the entire train was a misty tulle veil held to the soft hair of the bride with a becoming coronet of Duchess lace with medallion inserts of rose point lace. She carried an arm bouquet of delicately tinted orchids and valley lilies, edged with narrow white satin ribbons and lilies of the valley.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Fitzhugh Knox, who was assisted by her brother, Eldridge Powell, who acted as best man.

Elaborate Reception. Following the marriage service, Mr. and Mrs. Fitzhugh Knox entertained at a beautiful reception, receiving guests in the living room, assisted by the bride and groom, members of the bride party and Mrs. H. G. Powell, the groom's mother.

Others assisting in entertaining the guests were Mrs. Lee Barber, the bride's sister; Mrs. J. S. Mitchell, Jr.; Mrs. F. R. Ludwig, Mrs. Sanford Gann, Miss Alice Callaway, and Miss Suzanne Knox. Mrs. Knox wore a handsome model of apricot-colored chiffon embroidered in crystals. Her shoulder bouquet was of orchids and valley lilies.

Mrs. Powell, the groom's mother, was gowned in black lace veiling black satin and she wore a corsage bouquet of pink roses. Mrs. Barber's lovely frock was of flame-colored chiffon beaded in crystals and she wore a shoulder spray of valley lilies.

Miss Margaret Stovall was an attractive figure keeping the bride's book. On the enclosed veranda, Mrs. John Knox, Mrs. Joseph Walker, Mrs. Bernard Neal and Mrs. Ted Lewis served punch from bowls embedded in pastel-colored flowers.

During the evening Mr. Powell and his bride left for a wedding trip, after which they will return to Fitzgerald, Ga., to make their home. The bride wore a traveling costume of navy blue charmeuse with a small dark blue silk hat.

Miss Gray Poole Honored at Affairs. Miss Gray Poole, who sails on June 12 for several months' stay in Europe, was honored at the party at which Miss Martha Ridley was hostess Wednesday at the Atlanta Biltmore.

Mrs. J. B. Ridley, assisted her daughter in entertaining. The guests included Miss Poole, Miss Jean Williams, Miss Lula Lewis, Miss Catherine Smith, Miss Jennette Bailey, Miss Bootsie Perkins, Miss Ann Kessnich, Miss Louise Arnold, Miss Edythe Beasley, Miss Virginia Torrance, Miss Martha Maddox and Miss Ridley.

Miss Bailey Hostess. In the afternoon, Miss Bailey entertained a group of Miss Poole's friends at tea at the Druid Hills Golf club. Covers were placed for Misses Poole, Catherine Candler, Louise Arnold, Edythe Beasley, of Savannah, Beesie White, Catherine Smith, Anne Spindling and her guest, Adelaide Douglas, of Winston-Salem, N. C.; Anne Kessnich, Beulah Perkins and Martha Ridley.

The bride entered with her father, J. E. Stephenson, of Woodstock, who gave her in marriage. She formed a picture of radiant, girlish loveliness in her wedding robes of ivory-tinted duchesse satin, fashioned along modish straight lines, the only trimming being a band of rare princess lace. Her veil of misty tulle was fastened to her lovely blonde hair with a band of orange blossoms forming a finish at the back of the head. She carried a bouquet of delicately tinted

Keeping Your Schoolgirl Complexion

By IRENE CASTLE

Copyrighted 1924 by F. O. Beauty Features

Never Touch
Any but a true complexion soap to your face

Good complexions too priceless for experiment

THE only kind of soap to use on your face is a soap made basically for that purpose. Rinsing your complexion to an unproved soap is a folly.

Before Palmolive came, women were told "use no soap on your faces." Soaps then were judged too harsh.

Then came this famous beauty creation. A soap made by experts in beauty solely for ONE purpose: to safeguard the complexion. A soap made of rare cosmetic oils, to be used freely, lavishly on the skin. A soap, thus, that changed the beauty habits of the world.

Leading skin authorities urge it. Most of the pretty girls you see today are largely due to it. Launder, cleanse with any soap you wish. But when beauty is at stake, take care.

Start the day in the following way for one week... note the improvement in your skin.

The rule for gentle skin and pore cleansing. Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with

Patience

Heinz Pure Vinegars are aromatic and abounding in flavor because of the slow, careful, painstaking way in which they are made. Patience is the watchword. You cannot hurry good vinegar along.

The vinegars are mellowed and the flavor developed by aging in wood for more than a year.

There is no other way to develop such flavor. There is no other way to make such vinegar. Buy vinegar by name, and not by guess.

Donnelly-Wethington Wedding Is Lovely Home Event

Centering the interest of a wide circle of friends and relatives throughout the south was the marriage of Miss Marie Donnelly to Richard Alexander Wethington, of Miami, Fla., formerly of Atlanta, which took place at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents on Piedmont avenue. The Rev. Father James A. Horan, pastor of the Sacred Heart church, read the marriage service.

The house was beautifully decorated with a profusion of flowers. The improvised altar placed at one end of the living room was banked with palms and ferns, interspersed with tall white standards holding white peonies and lilies. Seven branch candelabra with white burning tapers were placed on either side. The chandelier was festooned with ropes of southern smilax showered with valley lilies.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Carolyn Holiday rendered several vocal selections accompanied by Miss Ethel Pritchett on the piano and Edgar Sullivan on the violin. The bridal party entered to the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin."

Wedding Attendants.

Entering first was Mrs. Hubert Milton Snider, sister of the bride, as matron of honor. Her costume was of soft yellow tulle, fashioned with tight bodice and bouffant skirt. The bottom of the skirt was finished with deep scallops of lace which formed a transparent hem. At the top of the scallops were clusters of French flowers, the waist being finished with a wreath of the same flowers. Her picture hat of yellow neapolitan straw was adorned with a water lily of softest yellow velvet and she carried an arm bouquet of pink roses showered with pink and lavender sweet peas and valley lilies.

Next to enter was Miss Ellen Donnelly, another sister of the bride, as maid of honor. She was gown in blue tulle fashioned like the matron's gown with tight bodice and full skirt. The scalloped hem and bertha were trimmed with silver lace and clusters of French flowers were placed at the waist line with silver ribbons extending to the hemline. Her hat of blue neapolitan straw was trimmed with a large bow of silver and pink ribbons. Her flowers were pink roses showered with pink and lavender sweet peas and valley lilies.

The bride entered with her father, P. H. Donnelly, and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Stevenson Allen.

Beautiful Bride.

She was radiantly beautiful in her wedding gown, a French model of flesh Romaine crepe built over a slip of apple green silk. The bottom of the skirt was finished with godets of chantilly lace forming a transparent hem, the godets being caught to the skirt with love knots of silver ribbon and French flowers in pastel shades. Her becoming hat was of flesh neapolitan straw, trimmed with silver ribbons and pastel shaded flowers, and she carried a bouquet of orchids and valley lilies.

Immediately following the ceremony an informal reception was held. In the dining room the table was covered with an exquisite lace cover and held in the center a silver vase of pink roses. Silver candelsticks holding unshaded pink tapers alternated with silver compotes filled with mints and salt nuts. The color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the ice.

Miss Frances Westmoreland was in charge of the bride's book.

Mrs. P. H. Donnelly, mother of the bride, wore figured crepe fashioned over a pink slip. Her shoulder corsage was of pink roses.

Mrs. E. K. Wethington, mother of the groom, was gown in tan hat crepe trimmed in silk lace. With this she wore a tan straw hat and her flowers were sweet peas, sweet peas, and valley lilies.

Miss Thelma Wethington wore an afternoon frock of flowered georgette, self-trimmed. Completing the costume was a picture hat of black straw.

Miss Kathryn Wethington, was gown in powder blue georgette, a large bow of powder blue ribbon falling from the left side to the bottom of the skirt. Her hat was a becoming model of blue straw.

Mrs. Stevenson Allen wore orchid georgette lace trimmed and an orchid hat trimmed with pastel flowers.

Following the reception Mr. Wethington and his bride left for Signal Mountain. Upon their return they will spend a few days with the bride's parents before going to Miami to reside.

The bride's going away costume was of tan Romaine crepe, self-trimmed. With this she wore a coat of natural Kashia and a close-fitting hat of natural colored bangkok straw.

Tech Senior Banquet At Biltmore Begins Commencement

Georgia Tech's forty-first commencement program began Wednesday evening with the senior banquet given at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel at 6:30 o'clock. The affair is one of the outstanding events among the senior activities and is a farewell affair, as it assembled for the last time the men of the class of '26 as a last formal class reunion.

The banquet was held in the Georgian ballroom of the hotel which was especially decorated with gold and white. Tech's long banquet table was decorated with yellow and white flowers and appropriate favors were given all attending. During the evening entertainment was furnished by a ballet of Atlanta's most talented dancers.

Douglas Wycoff, of Little Rock, Ark., president of the class, presided. During the evening speeches were made by Mr. Wycoff, Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of the school; Dean W. Vernon Skiles, and Ivan Williams, of Little Rock, Ark., vice president of the class.

Mrs. Sharp Releases Financial Item Of Club Report

Mrs. Norman Sharp, in releasing her annual report as the retiring president of the Atlanta Woman's club, gives the following interesting financial item from the auditor's report: "While the swimming pool was practically completed last year, its value was not set up on the books until this year. Taking this into consideration, the present administration, which has been in office for two years, deserves the highest praise for its accomplishment this year. The net worth of the club (land, building, property, etc.) has increased in the sum of $32,240.30 this year. This amount will be found invested in the swimming pool, the junior ledge and an increase in cash, furniture and fixtures and notes receivable. Also a decrease in liabilities of some $5,500."

North Avenue School Graduation Exercises

Tuesday evening, June 1, 48 graduates of North Avenue Presbyterian school received diplomas in the Woman's club auditorium at 8:15 o'clock. The program was witnessed by a large number of friends and patrons of the school.

The entire student body took part in the exercises. The processional was led by the sophomore and junior classes, carrying the traditional rose chain, which they carried to the stage and placed on the pedestals there, making a background for the graduates who were to follow.

Dr. R. R. Lacy delivered the address of the evening. Miss Thryza S. Askew, principal, announced the Agnes Scott scholarship and the members of next year's group of the honor society of the school, the Pi Sigma Kappa society. Dr. Marion McEl, Hull, president of the board of trustees, awarded the diplomas. The Agnes Scott scholarship was won by Miss Faith Forster; Pi Sigma Kappa by Misses Maxine Crawford and Eugenia Patterson.

A distinctive part of the program was the song by the student body, "Exultation," directed by Miss Mary Jerome. Ushers of the evening were former members of the Pi Sigma Kappa society.

Happy Woman Praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

In a sunny pasture in Oklahoma a herd of sleek cows was grazing. They made a pretty picture. But the thin woman in the blue checkered apron sighed as she looked at them. She was tired of cows tired of her tedious work in the dairy. She was tired of cooking for a household of four boarders, besides caring for her own family. The burdens of life seemed too heavy for her failing health. She had lost confidence in herself.

One day she began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and her general health began to improve. She took it faithfully. Now she can do her work without any trouble, sleeps well and is no longer blue and tired.

This woman, Mrs. Cora Short, R. 9, Box 396, Oklahoma City, Okla., writes: "Everybody now says: 'Mrs. Short, what are you doing to yourself?' I weigh 135 and my weight before I took it was 115. I have taken seven bottles of the Vegetable Compound."

Miss Una Wade Webster Weds
G. W. Connors, Jr., at Birmingham

Birmingham, Ala., June 2.—(Special)—The wedding of Miss Una Wade Webster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sykes Webster, and Mr. George W. Connors, Jr., was solemnized Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at First Presbyterian church, with a brilliant and impressive ceremony. Pink roses and palms banked the altar, aglow with pink cathedral candles in slender candelabra. Trail of smiles, intertwined with roses, formed a background of dignified beauty for the wedding procession.

Preceding the ceremony, Joseph Wagner, carillonist, played "Wedding Music" (West), and Mrs. Sarah Hunt Vann at the organ rendered compositions of Lohengrin and Wagner.

Mrs. Walter Brower sang two soprano solos, "Because" and "I Love You Truly." "To a Wild Rose" was softly rendered by Mrs. Vann, who played the wedding march for the entrance of the party.

The bridesmaids were, Miss Mary Hansell Shook, Miss Emily Asie Smith, Miss Cecil Gray Johnston, Miss Margaret Oliver, Miss Martha Pender, of Norfolk, Va., Miss Catherine Sproull, of Aniston. They wore pink taffeta frocks, fashioned in period style with bouffant skirts of chantilly lace over taffeta and with pointed bodices. Scallops on the skirts were outlined with old blue velvet ribbon, pink rosebud and forget-me-nots. V-shaped neck lines were finished in the back with flat velvet bows ending in long streamers that reached to the hems of the skirts. Their flowers were pink roses and blue Delphinium, fashioned into show-ers.

The circular net ruffles of the bouffant skirt were trimmed in velvet ribbons and pink velvet roses. The groomsmen and ushers were Morton Connors, brother of the bridegroom; Allen Johnson, John Terry Badham, George Stubbs, A. C. Crowder, Jr., Willis Fenn, Alvin Dwyer, Francis Inge, of Mobile; George Weyman and Comer Howell, both of Atlanta; Floyd McGowan, of Channah. The bride entered with her father, William Sykes Webster, who gave her in marriage. Her ivory-colored Swiss taffeta wedding gown was exquisite in its grace, with point lace covering the bouffant skirt.

They were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, John Levert. Dr. Trevor Mordecai, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony as the organ wove a simple melody.

Mr. and Mrs. Connors left for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home with the bridegroom's parents on Crest road. Mrs. Connors wore for traveling a navy blue Canton crepe made with a jaunty cape, trimmed in tan. Her hat was a small model of tan grosgrain ribbon.

Mrs. Connors, as Miss Webster, made a brilliant debut this season, attended by unusual popularity. She is the first of the debutantes of this year to be married. She is a member of an aristocratic southern family, having lived for a number of years in Mobile, where she attended Knott school. After attending Margaret Allen school and Louie Compton seminary in Birmingham, she completed her education at Holton Arms in Washington.

Mr. Connors is descended from families of prominence and prestige. His parents were outstanding in the social life of Atlanta, from which city they

The Thing To Do

To make your jams and jellies perfect every time

By Elizabeth Palmer

The old, anxious days of kettle watching and speculating on what "luck" you will have with your jam or with your jelly, are over.

Now even an inexperienced cook can be absolutely sure of success every time. For the new, short-bolt method, with Certo never fails. You just bring your fruit and sugar to a boil, add Certo, boil it a minute or two, and it's done—ready to skim, pour and seal.

And the beauty of it is that this short boiling time saves the color and flavor of your fresh fruit, so that your jams and jellies look better and taste better. Besides, since you do not boil the juice away, you get so much more jam or jelly from your fruit that you save two cents or more on every glass. With each bottle of Certo comes a book of recipes for your favorite jams and jellies—and some delicious new ones! Your grocer carries Certo, or you can send 10c (for postage) and get a trial half-size bottle which will make from 8 to 10 glasses of jam or jelly, depending upon the recipe used. Address Douglas-Pectin Corporation, 1947 Granite Building, Rochester, N. Y.—(adv.)

INSTALLMENT XXII.
A LOST OPPORTUNITY.

Mountford was silent for a few thoughtful moments, then he said: "Yet it is clear that an apparently well kept secret of the general staff had become a matter of common knowledge among the sergeants. Strange! Now, what is the technical side of the alleged shortage, or mislaying, of the Mills bombs?"

"So far as they were concerned it was immaterial whether the enemy resisted seriously or gave way at the outset. Once the men got into the German trenches the Mills bomb became all important. It was practically the only effectual means of clearing dugouts and machine gun nests. No company officer would be worth his salt if he did not make a fuss when less than half the proper supply was on hand."

"Were you surprised when the missing bombs were found?"

"In ordinary conditions I would not have given another moment's thought to it—then. Of course, some one would have been hauled over the coals for the mistake afterwards."

"What exactly do you mean by 'in ordinary conditions'?"

"Well, one blundered through, you know, when things went right. In this instance I began to feel nervy just about the time Connington reported the shortage. From that moment I passed from bad to worse. Within ten minutes I was intemperate."

"Common honesty can often be uncommonly mistaken," said Furneaux.

"Has it never occurred to you that you might have been drugged?"

"Of course it has, scores of times. If I didn't believe that I would not be here now."

Somehow the very tone of John's voice implied that he would not have lived.

"Was that possibility suggested at the inquiry?"

"No. Some one said I acted as though I were drunk or drugged, the obvious explanation being that I had doped myself through fear. Indeed, I think the court rather inclined to that view. All I know is that, barring two cups of coffee that morning, I took nothing to drink. My last effort in that line was a whisky about ten o'clock the previous night. I couldn't get any more if I wanted it. I had the last half-inch in the only available bottle."

"My hat!" broke in Frensham, "that's right, too!" Panton was checking the reserve ammunition after dinner, and a gunner came along to arrange about further artillery support after the barrage lifted. We were hospitable, and those lads can shift whisky a treat. We were just able to save a couple for Johnnie here."

Panton smiled dourly.

"I remember your saying that very thing, Arthur," he commented. "So here was another rather vital fact which was not brought to the notice of the court!"

"I suppose so. Don't you see, sir, I was not trying to defend myself. A damned thing had happened, and I wanted to make the only possible amendment. Believe me, had I been allowed, I would have given the order to the firing party myself."

"Evidently you do not know that the president commented on your resigned attitude. You will find it there—on the second last page. . . . Well, we are a purely informal gathering, discussing a difficult matter which cannot be carried much further tonight. . . . Mr. Leslie, have you any course of action in mind?"

"I think we ought to employ an inquiry agent. He must be a very good man. I know of one or two who might be trusted."

Leslie spoke slowly. He glanced at Winter, and the chief took the hint at once.

"Having waited so long, Mr. Panton need not hurry for a day or so," he said. "I assume that all his legal business is not settled yet. Meanwhile my department will look up a few things which may prove useful, though, of course, we are debarred from any official action. Don't appoint your agent, Mr. Leslie, until you hear from me. Before you do choose him let me know his name."

Leslie nodded. His confidence had not been misplaced. The splendid organization of the criminal investigation department would open up avenues which no private detective could follow unaided. Many people, including a few who really ought to know better, gird at the frequent failures of the police to get on the track of criminals, the truth being that English law in that line was a very complicated matter. The rights of an individual, often times the hands of the very men who are able and willing to protect the greater rights of the public.

"I wish we had Connington here tonight," said Furneaux suddenly. "What a pity that this array of talent should miss such an opportunity!"

"Why do you pounce on Connington?" demanded Mr. Mountford with equal quickness. One might imagine he had been awaiting the chance of putting that very question.

"Because he may easily have been the villain of the piece. How old were your subalterns, Mr. Panton?"

Each about twenty. But I myself was only twenty-two and a few months."

"You had extended war experience. Had they?"

"No. Very little, indeed. Our main wastage was in platoon leaders." "Exactly. Who was likely to benefit, professionally or otherwise, from your collapse?" Connington. Who could probably have screened you—at any rate until your company was over the top? Connington. Who put the lid on your coffin and nailed it down at the inquiry? Connington. I'd like to meet him."

"But the chief beneficiary was my cousin, Alistair Panton."

"Yes, I know. Isn't it an admitted principle of the law, Mr. Mountford, that qui facit per alium facit per se, or, in plain English, he who acts through another acts himself?"

"Yes, but in this affair isn't that assumption rather far fetched?"

"To the best of my belief," said Panton, "my company sergeant-major didn't know my cousin existed. We—that is, Alistair and I—never met in France. If anything, we avoided one another. I'm sure I avoided him, because we would surely quarrel at sight, and he lost no opportunity of misrepresenting me to my father. Indeed, because of his cunning, Lord Olyn and I were somewhat estranged before I committed the crowning misdeed. Still, in common honesty, I must repeat that Connington and he were complete strangers."

"Common honesty can often be uncommonly mistaken," said Furneaux. "Why, for instance, have you gone out of your way to threaten Mr. Alistair Panton with physical vengeance? He wrote you a perfectly charming letter, and you answer by bidding him run for his life. That's no way to treat a rogue. He must be cowed, cheated, ambushed; yet, if necessary for his more utter undoing, rescued by the very man who set the snare. Look at my respected chief. He exudes good nature from every pore. He almost weeps over the transgressions of the wicked. I've heard him utter a forgiving 'Tut, tut!' when a murderer confessed his crime. Yet he can wheedle the truth out of the most thoroughbred scoundrel who ever faced judge and jury. That's his forte. I believe I would quarrel with your Alistair, but Mr. Winter would back him into the easiest chair in the room and offer him a big fat cigar. Ah, me! Why wasn't he born in Peebles? Or even in Dumfries! There are points about Dumfries, I believe, Mr. Leslie!"

83,000 Japanese Women Work in Depths of Mines

Geneva, June 2.—Eighty-three thousand Japanese women work in the mines and 48,000 of them in the darkest depths, Japanese representatives told the international labor conference here yesterday.

This admission followed an admission of Miss Margaret Bondfield, English labor leader, that working conditions in Japan, China and India were "intolerable."

She urged Japan to ratify conventions agreed to by other nations and barring night work for women. Japan, she said, ranked second only to China as an offender against humane labor policies.

The Japanese delegates who reported that the 83,000 women workers, 700 were girls under the age of 15. They regretted that Japan's parliament had been slow to enact progressive labor laws.

"We have been obliged to slow down slightly on some labor legislation," said Miyake, "because of the earthquake disasters in Japan. But we are not delaying such measures unnecessarily. The hours imposed on Japan by agreements signed in Washington are shorter than those effective in India."

Normally cold and formal public offices of Fulton county's ordinary in the courthouse here suddenly took on an aura of romance Wednesday as usually practical clerks romantically whispered into ears of newspapermen that officials sensed an increased beating of Love's white wings above many a clerk's record.

Ministers Wednesday reported unexpected increase in demands on their services for June ceremonies at the altar.

Public records revealed that June probably will increase hymenal activity this year. Twenty couples already have posted five-day bans during the first two days of the month.

Controversy over the wording of the marriage ceremony continued as some bridegrooms admitted a willingness to accept "to obey," while others who cherish the modernist tendency balked at "obedience" and insisted on starting wedded life with a clear understanding in the matter of domestic control.

The following applications for marriage licenses were filed Tuesday and Wednesday, June 1 and 2, in the office of the ordinary of Fulton county: Edward Borsas, 37, and Miss Thelma...

GEORGIA SOLOKS OPPOSE TILSON

Washington, June 2.—(AP)—Prospects for the appointment to a Georgia federal judgeship of Joseph Tilson, of Atlanta, brother of Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, the house republican leader, stirred up a rumpus in the Georgia congressional delegation, led by Senators Harris and George of that state.

Both have protested to President Coolidge and Attorney General Sargent against the selection of Mr. Tilson and have promised a vigorous fight to prevent confirmation.

Today Senator Harris asserted it was "nothing short of an outrage that a man in Connecticut can dictate the appointment of a federal judge in Georgia." He also declared Mr. Tilson lives outside the territory embraced within the judicial district which has just been created.

BARRETT AND SIBLEY TO PRESIDE. Macon, Ga., June 2.—(AP)—Under an order from United States Circuit Judge Walker, Judges Sibley and Barrett, of the northern and southern districts of Georgia, will preside over the divisions of the newly created middle Georgia district until a new judge qualifies.

At the same time that the order was filed in United States court here there was an order signed by Judge Barrett of the federal court in the present case, commissioners and referees, ad interim, and leaving the way clear for the new judge of the middle Georgia district to appoint whom he desires.

L. M. ERWIN REAPPOINTED CLERK. Macon, Ga., June 2.—(AP)—Under a joint order issued by Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley, of the northern district, and Judge W. H. Barrett, of the southern district, L. M. Erwin, clerk of the federal court at Macon, has been reappointed clerk and will be the clerk of the new middle Georgia district.

The deputy clerk, reappointed after the death of the late George Cecil Morgan and Miss M. E. Erwin, Macon, N. A. Brown, Columbus; J. C. Boone, Athens; George F. White, Athens; W. E. Martin, Macon; and N. A. Brown, Columbus.

All these appointments are subject to be confirmed by the new federal judge for the Georgia district, Georgia. The appointments were all made yesterday at which time the oath of office was administered.

one of his productions being fast moving stories, full of punch and pep, and exceeding in the red-blooded virility of their stories.

And across the border? "The Metropolitain." Apparently Mack Sennett isn't the only movie magnate who is capable of discovering comedienne. Cecil B. De Mille has found a comedy genius among his players in Julia Rye, who has made a specialty of silver screen roles in previous De Mille productions.

But Julia the alluring, has been transformed into Julia the laughing, as "The Volga Boatman" which is playing at the Metropolitan theater this week.

"William Boyd is cast in the leading role of the picture, that of the Volga Boatman, the human mule, who loves the lady of royal blood, portrayed by Elaine Barrie.

"The Metropolitain" is a tale that holds interest for all, and its thrilling love theme is unsurpassed in its originality. Volpi's Mixed Chorus SINGING "Freedom's Awakening" OVERTURE METROPOLITAN NEWS

NEXT WEEK CORINNE GRIFFITH IN "MILIE MODISTE"

THE HOWARD. Don't dare miss "Wet Paint." This is not intended as a sarcasm, but to warn our citizens away from the city hall's new coat, but is rather a compliment to Raymond Griffith's "Wet Paint," which is the feature attraction at the greater Howard theater this week.

Cecile D'Andrea and Neale Walters, who are featured in the Wall Street scene in John Murray Anderson's "Rhapsody in Jazz," this week's stage review, have been on the stage with a dance team since 1918. Walters first met his partner, who happens also to be his wife, when he was a doughty Frenchman. Miss D'Andrea and Walters are the volunteer entertainers in the cantonments "over there."

West End Theater. The love of an old son of Abraham for a young son of Erin and the love of both of them for a lovely girl, the essence of the story of "Old Clothes." Jackie Coogan's latest production for Metro-Goldwyn which is playing at the West End theater today and tomorrow.

With each succeeding release, Jackie Coogan unfolds a new side of his genius as a lovely girl, the youthful star in "Old Clothes" who have never seen the real Jackie Coogan. Jackie is aided assisted in the homely and humorous story by David Davidson, Lillian Elliott, Alan Forrest and James Mason.

The Tudor. Taken from the story by Frank H. Clifton, "Hands Across the Border" with Fred Thompson and his wonder woman, Silver King, which comes to the Tudor for three days, today, Friday and Saturday, is a riot of action.

"Hands Across the Border" is the story of a young American, son of a rich ranch owner, who craves action and cannot find it in his own social circle, so sets out in a saddle to find it, runs across a beautiful sorceress, rescues her from almost certain death, falls in love with her, and then she disappears.

In looking for the girl this young American runs into numerous adventures, some of which finally lead him across the border into Mexico, land of blood and death, and into the very stronghold of bandits and rebels, where he scraps to his heart's content and is saved from destruction by the quick thinking of his horse, which releases him from his prison shack and then carries him away.

The agility of Fred Thompson and the speed and ability of his steed are very well known, and those to whom this combination is known are sure of the fact that they will leave the theater well pleased after seeing it, for it is Fred Thompson's reputation that he has never appeared in a picture of mediocre caliber, every

Paint that stays new longer

Fresh from the brush, any paint at all looks fine. But time is the test; how long that gleaming newness lasts depends on how much the makers tried for permanence in their product. Not many house paints meet this test as it is met by Tripod Paint.

Though all we claim for our product is its merits as just a right good paint, yet it covers as much surface to the gallon as any paint actually will, more surface than most paints and stay new-looking a long, long time under the trying Southern sun and rain. This frank, common sense statement perhaps appeals to you enough to get you to figure with us.

Benefactor of Lillian Gish Phase Develops in Duell Trial Revealed as Society Man

BY GRACE ROBINSON.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, June 2.—W. Averell Harriman, wealthy society man, was revealed today as a silent movie magnate who was determined to make a super-star of Lillian Gish. This phase of the activities of Charles H. Duell, Lillian Gish's former employer, accused of perjury in his efforts to prevent the star from working for any other producer.

Lillian's attorney, George W. Newcomb, will go on the witness stand Thursday to tell how he was her knight-protector against Duell's alleged unscrupulous dealings.

George S. Leasure, who is conducting the case for the government, said today he might not call Miss Gish to the stand, although she is due to arrive on the Mauretania Thursday. He promised, however, that he would introduce her famous "betrayal" affidavit, in which the actress accused Duell of almost every breach of confidence in the calendar.

Duell's former partner, J. Joyce Smith Jr., said today that at one time Harriman owned nearly all the preferred stock of Inspiration Pictures, Inc., then Duell's concern. Smith also handed Harriman a copy of the movie magnate's manipulation of the public's loving heart. He explained the publicity purposes of the court show and how the high prices patrons pay for the preliminary showings go to create a demand for the picture in the regular moving-picture houses.

Smith dealt another blow to the sensibilities of movie fans when he admitted that being a movie star was "largely a matter of name, although a measure of ability is necessary, too."

It was on road shows that Duell tripped up in certain affidavits, according to the prosecution. Lillian's original contract gave her a 15 per cent stake in the company's receipts. Later this was modified to include road shows specifically.

"Daily Dozen" Camp, home of the late "Daily Dozen" Camp, became indignant over this arrangement, according to Smith, declaring such arrangement favored Miss Gish rather than the company.

Later Miss Gish signed another paper surrendering her road show percentage to the company and other and lesser considerations.

Assistant United States Attorney Lissauer reviewed the Lillian under this arrangement lost at least $200,000 on "The White Sister." Duell had sworn that the girl waived less than $25,000. Mr. Leasure pointed out, was perjury.

Spain Accuses Krim of Slaying 22 Prisoners

BY LORIMORE HAMMOND

(Copyright, 1926, by The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Fez, French Morocco, June 2.—That twenty-two officers held prisoner of war by Abd-el-Krim did not die of typhus, as was reported, but were shot, bayoneted, and clubbed to death by Krim's soldiers during the last days of the Rifian defense is the charge brought by Spanish investigators.

The inquiry was carried on semi-confidentially by two Spanish agents who lived in the Rif and knew the Rifians intimately. Their finding is based on testimony given by Spanish private non-coms who used to be servants for the Spanish officers in the Rif prison camps.

It is expected that the present inquiry will be followed by a formal demand from Madrid for an official investigation, with the object of bringing Abd-el-Krim before a military court martial on charges of inhuman cruelty to Spanish prisoners of war. The Kifian chiefs would be included in the charges.

The Spanish do not seek the death penalty for Krim, but prefer to have him sentenced to a long term of confinement in some Spanish military prison.

The leading charge against Krim is the deliberate murder of a young Spanish flying officer, Lieutenant Fernando Herrais—the same one Krim

WHITTEMORE BAND MEMBER IS GUILTY

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, June 2.—Milton ("Shuffles") Goldberg, the last of the Whittemore robber band, pleaded guilty today to two indictments charging first-degree robbery as a first offender before Judge Koenig in general sessions.

He may receive from 10 to 20 years on each indictment when sentenced on June 11.

The verdict is said to be in the last stages of tuberculosis. He is only 23 years old. Doctors said he has but six months to live.

Goldberg appeared as an alibi witness for Leon and Joseph Kramer, members of the Whittemore band who were convicted last week and face 40-year terms.

He swore the Kramers did not aid in the holdup of Folmer Prip, Nassau County Jeweler, December 22, 1925, robbers got $6,100 worth of platinum.

REAL ESTATE MAN
HELD AS SLAYER
OF WOMAN CLERK

Washington, June 2.—(AP)—Thomas B. Brown, 40-year-old Washington real estate operator, was arrested charged with murder following the fatal shooting tonight of Miss Frances Voyle, 30-year-old treasury department clerk.

Police said Brown had confessed that he killed the woman after dragging her across a street, firing five shots at her.

He meant to fire only four shots, police said he told them, and to save one with which to kill himself. He discovered the mistake when he put the gun at his own head and it did not fire.

Miss Voyle had caused Brown's arrest Tuesday after she alleged he had threatened her life. He later was released in police court on his promise to keep the peace.

BRUCE AND BRIDE
SAIL FOR EUROPE
ON LARGE LINER

New York, June 2.—(AP)—Showered with confetti and rice by a party of friends, Bruce and his bride, the former Ailsa Mellon, only daughter of Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury, sailed today aboard the United States liner President Harding.

They are en route to Rome, where Mr. Bruce, who is the son of United States Senator William Chandler Bruce of Maryland, will take up his duties as vice consul in the American legation. They were married in Washington Saturday.

"PATH OF GLORY"
LEADS BEAUTY
TO GOTHAM JAIL

New York, June 2.—"Path of Glory" led a shivering, emaciated young girl to a cell in Raymond street jail Wednesday, a girl who will not tell her real name because she doesn't want the folks back in Sarasota Springs to know of her disgrace.

Three years ago, this girl who went bounding for food and shelter from a patrolman, threatening suicide if she was refused, won a beauty contest in her home town. For a time she was an "envied" as glorified as Dorothy Knapp. Then she came to New York to find fame and fortune through a Broadway show.

"I couldn't put up with it," she whimpered. "I chose to quit and work in a factory over in Brooklyn. Now I've lost my job and my looks and I'm starving."

GANGSTERS SLAY CHICAGO WOMAN

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Chicago, Ill., June 2.—Professional killers were not deterred today by the presence of women. They had been sent to kill Philip Piazza, Italian boss of Chicago Heights, and his lieutenant, Giraldo Lambert. Piazza escaped death, but Mrs. Chrystal Barrier, of Chicago Heights, was killed in his stead, and Mrs. Violet Bass was wounded because she was in the line of fire and sawed off shotguns are no respecters of sex.

Such was the unofficial police explanation of the shooting in front of the Derby Inn, 175th and Halsted streets. The official report, however, was "another murder; another mystery."

The inquest held during the afternoon failed to elicit any tangible clues. Piazza, Lambert, the two married women, Mrs. Barrier and Mrs. Bass, two unmarried girls; Miss Margaret Quintenz and Miss Mabel Siner, and another married man, Charles Costello, had gone for a midnight inspection of the shooting while preventing her brains from flowing from the wounds with a towel bandage.

Her fortitude astonished the police. She gave further evidence of Spartan endurance by walking to the ambulance which whisked her to a hospital. Surgeons, however, fear Henrietta will die. The husband filed after the shooting and has not been captured.

The bullet entered the woman's head behind the left ear and emerged from the forehead. When a policeman reached the house, the victim was sitting in a chair. She calmly related the circumstances of the shooting while preventing her brains from flowing from the wounds with a towel bandage.

Her fortitude astonished the police. She gave further evidence of Spartan endurance by walking to the ambulance which whisked her to a hospital. Surgeons, however, fear Henrietta will die. The husband filed after the shooting and has not been captured.

Motion for New Trial Is Denied To Whittemore

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Baltimore, Md., June 2.—Eight judges of the Baltimore supreme bench today unanimously over-ruled the motion for a new trial presented by Richard Reese Whittemore through his counsel, Edgar Allen Poe.

This means that early next week the Candy Kid who for a year terrorized the jewelry merchants of New York city, will be brought into the court of Judge Eugene O'Dunne for sentence.

Whittemore was convicted of the murder of Robert Holtzman, a Maryland state penitentiary guard. He beat Holtzman over the head with a piece of iron pipe on the afternoon of February 20, 1925, and then made his escape.

The jury brought in no recommendation of mercy with its verdict of murder in the first degree. Judge O'Dunne may sentence Whittemore to life imprisonment or to death by hanging.

BAY DYNAMITED TO LOCATE BODY OF WOMAN PASTOR

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Los Angeles, June 2.—(AP)—Searchers for the body of Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist of Angelus Temple, who was reported drowned at the beach May 18, today braved the wrath of the state fish and game commission when they dynamited the waters of Santa Monica bay in a vain effort to float the body, if it is there.

In the face of an ultimatum that arrests would follow and that Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of the evangelist, would be held responsible if any game fish were killed by the blasts, Captain Fred Henderson, in the employ of the Temple, set off four blasts in the help beds around Castle Rock. A few small dead fish floated up on the beach, but no body rose to the surface, and no arrests were made.

Otherwise, the search for Mrs. McPherson was at low ebb here today.
